TICKET INFORMATION

Season and single-game tickets for the 2011-12 Army Hockey season are now on sale.

Sixteen home games, including contests against service academy rivals Air Force and Royal Military College, highlight the 2011-12 Army hockey schedule.

The Black Knights will host non-conference opponents Union, Brown and RMC as well as Atlantic Hockey Association rivals Connecticut, Bentley, Mercyhurst, Canisius, Holy Cross, American International and Sacred Heart at Tate Rink.

The RMC contest, announced after season tickets were put on sale, will be offered free to season ticket holders.

Ticket prices will remain the same for season ticket holders with packages starting at $159, a savings of more than $5 over single-game tickets.

Rink-side seating will continue at just $35 a game and offers fans an up-close view of the action, as well as a private hospitality area.

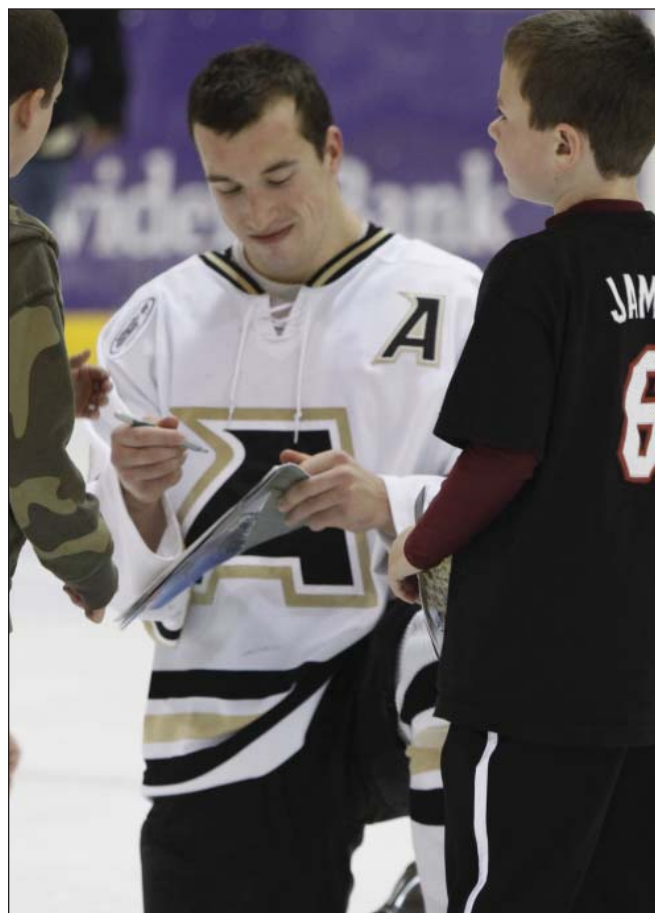

To purchase season tickets, visit www.goARMYsports.com, call 1-877-TIX-ARMY or visit the Ticket Office at Holleder Center.

With 16 home games scheduled, a bevy of promotions are planned for Tate Rink. This is a tentative list and subject to change. For the most up-to-date information, please visit www.goARMYsports.com

INTERVIEWS: Army head coach Brian Riley and selected players will be available to the media at the conclusion of each game, following a 10-minute cooling off period.

In most cases, the players will be made available outside of the locker room, located in the northwest corner of the arena. Access to the locker room area can be made via the steps at the north end of the east stands and by walking behind the goal area. The locker room is closed to the media.

The visitor's locker room is located in the southeast corner of the arena and can be accessed using the stairs at the south end of the east stands. Please see the visiting Sports Information Director for visiting players and coaches.

For those desiring interviews with Riley during the week, the best time to reach him is between 9 a.m. and noon. No game-day interviews will be granted except upon extenuating circumstances.

All requests for player or coach interviews must be made through Ryan Yanoshak of the Office of Athletic Communications in order to avoid disruptions to players' academic schedules.

PRESS BOX: Tate Rink's press box is located in Sections 12 and 13 on the east side of the arena at center ice. The press facilities can be accessed by entering the arena from the east concourse between Sections 12 and 13. Seating in the press box is limited and is restricted to credentialed media only.

PRESS CREDENTIALS: Working credentials for all media personnel are issued on a first-come, first-served basis by contacting Ryan Yanoshak in the Army Office of Athletic Communications. In most instances, credentials will be left at the Will Call window, located on the east side of the ticket office in the lobby of the Hollender Center.

There is no designated press parking, although special arrangements for television crews may be arranged through Ryan Yanoshak or Mike Rubbino, facilities operations manager.

GAME SERVICES: Game notes, statistics, line charts and other vital information will be available in the press box prior to the game. Shot charts and statistics will be distributed during each period break with a full game summary compiled following the contest. The press box is equipped with internet access and reporters should bring their own cord. There is no wireless access in Tate Rink.

RADIO: Up to three spaces are available per crew. West Point officials reserve the right to limit radio crews to fewer members. Three outside radio lines are available from Tate Rink. Rental fee for these lines is $75 per line. A check and completed radio line agreement MUST be received in the Office of Athletic Communications PRIOR to the game or hand-delivered to an athletic communications representative before plugging into the line. Only outgoing collect or credit card calls are permitted. Stations in need of ISDN service should contact Ryan Yanoshak in Army's Office of Athletic Communications.

TELEVISION: Special arrangements must be made through the Office of Athletic Communications and Mike Rubbino, facilities operations manager.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Still photographers are requested to contact athletic communications personnel for instructions as to where they may be during game action. Shooting from the penalty boxes is limited to professional photographers representing accredited media outlets or the Army Athletic Association.

MULTI-MEDIA COVERAGE: Audio and video broadcasts of Army's selected hockey games are available on the internet to ITT Knight Vision subscribers on the Black Knights' official Web site at: www.goARMYsports.com.

BLOGS: The Army Athletic Association will continue to provide in-game blogs throughout the course of the season. Game-day blogs will be available at www.goARMYsports.com

FACEBOOK: The official Army Athletic Association Facebook page is listed as Army Black Knights. Photos, upcoming events, polls and much more can be found on the site.

Each year, the Army Hockey Association holds a golf tournament at the West Point Golf Course, a dinner and alumni game, allowing former players a chance to re-connect, players of different generations to gather and a chance to re-tell stories and pass along the proud traditions of West Point and Army hockey.

Two years ago, the event was among the best attended as hundreds of former players, administrators, friends, fans and supporters turned out to celebrate the 90th birthday of former coach Jack Riley.

A spirited alumni game with specially made sweaters and pucks, a huge turnout for the golf tournament and a birthday celebration that included family, friends and four Olympic hockey coaches helped make the Army Hockey Alumni Weekend and Jack Riley Birthday Celebration a rousing success.

From Friday's alumni game to Saturday's 90th birthday party for the legendary Riley, former players, fans and family had the opportunity to share stories, reminisce and pass on birthday wishes to Riley.

"What a great weekend for Army hockey," said Army hockey head coach Brian Riley, Jack's youngest son. "Seeing so many old faces and such a great turnout really reinforced that Army hockey is a bond for life."

The weekend began with Friday's alumni game, a close contest with the white squad pulling out a 13-12 victory as more than 20 skaters participated. Each jersey had the Riley nameplate on the back and everyone wore number 90. Special pucks, featuring a photo of Riley and the date, were utilized.

"It's great to see the guys," said Ed Healy, a 1976 graduate who served as Jack's head Officer Representative for four years. "It's been a while since I have been here and this seemed like the perfect weekend to come back and see coach and reconnect with some old friends."

Jack Riley, who won 542 games while behind the Army bench and coached the 1960 U.S. Olympic team to a gold medal, spent parts of the game in the crowd catching up with former players and friends and also spent some time coaching as well.

Saturday's tournament at the West Point Golf Course featured more than 100 participants and a slew of prizes and raffle items. A few golfers sported replica USA sweaters for the start of the event and a few hockey stickers were spotted in golf bags. Each of the four golfers on the winning team received a copy of the book 1960: Miracle at Squaw Valley, written by Harvey Shapiro., among other great prizes.

Following the golf event, the festivities moved to the West Point Ski Slope for a birthday celebration of Riley, the head coach of Army for 36 seasons, after passing a road sign that wished him Happy Birthday.

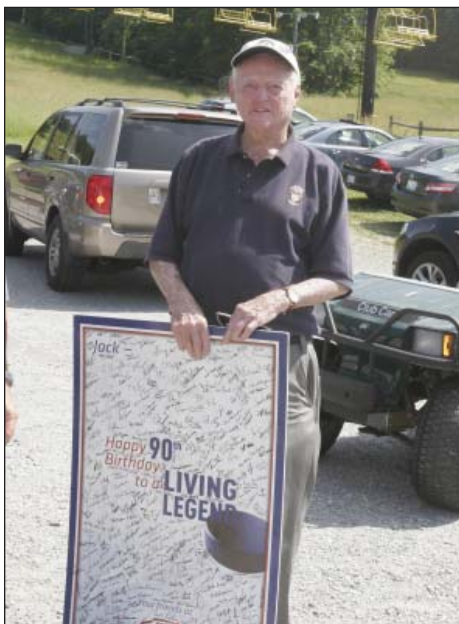

More than 150 people were on hand, most of whom signed a giant card provided by U.S.A. Hockey. Brian Riley served as master of ceremonies, thanking everyone for their support of the event and Army hockey. He then introduced three other Olympic coaches who made the trek to West Point, N.Y. Murray Williamson, an assistant on the 1968 squad and head coach of the '72 team that won a silver medal; Tim Taylor, an assistant in 1984 and the head coach in 1994 and Lou Vairo, an assistant in 2002 and head coach in 1984, were all on hand for an historic gathering of Olympic greatness.

In addition to the Olympic head coaches, all five of Jack Riley's children – sons Jay, Mark, Rob and Brian and daughter Mary Beth – as well as nieces and nephews, cousins and grandchildren were on hand.

Carl Ulrich, who served as Athletic Director during Riley's tenure made the trek and former neighbor Bobby Knight, who was out of the country and unable to attend, sent birthday wishes.

"I am so blessed," said Jack Riley, shortly after the crowd sang Happy Birthday. "It has been so great to see so many old friends and players and I thank you all for coming out."

Said Brian Riley, "This has been a great weekend and there are so many people to thank. The Army hockey staff and the Army Hockey Association did an outstanding job putting this together and we are so thankful for the folks that came out to say hi to my dad and support our program."

KENNA HALL OF ARMY SPORTS

The Army Sports Hall of Fame has inducted eight classes and there is a strong hockey presence among the Academy's top athletes.

The Army Sports Hall of Fame is located in the Kimsey Athletic Center. Each inductee has a plaque highlighting their many accomplishments and each team has a separate area detailing the history of the sport at West Point.

Riley is Army's all-time winningest coach and compiled a 542-343-20 record during his remarkable 36-year career at the Black Knights' hockey helm. He retired in 1986 as the second-winningest college hockey head coach in NCAA history and currently ranks ninth on the list. In addition, Riley led the 1960 U.S. Olympic Team to a gold medal at the Squaw Valley Games.

Merhar led Army's hockey team in scoring during each of his three seasons with the varsity, but it was his explosive senior campaign that earned him national acclaim. Merhar erupted for an NCAA-record 57 goals and tallied 50 assists during the 1968-69 season, becoming the first collegiate player ever to surpass 100 points in one year.

No player in NCAA hockey history has scored more points than Rost, who compiled an astounding 330 points during his remarkable four-year career at Army.

Rost was tabbed a first-team All-East selection in 1977, capping a sparkling senior season in which he set an Academy record with 108 points, while jointly setting the NCAA single-season scoring mark with Clarkson's Dave Taylor. The Black Knights' career assist leader with 226, Rost tallied 104 career goals to graduate in third place in that category. His 66 assists in 1974-75 remain an Academy record.

Clark wasn't far behind Rost and Merhar when it came to scoring. The Academy's only two-time All-American, Clark is third all-time with 266 points. His 153 goals top the Academy goals scoring chart while his 113 assists are 10th all-time. He had a seven-goal game to his credit and once netted nine points in a game.

Boretti was a three-sport star at the Academy in baseball, soccer and hockey. He played 75 games as a defenseman with 27 points.

Dawkins, a Heisman Trophy winner in 1958, was also a defenseman on the hockey team.

Chesnauskas, the most recent inductee as part of the Class of 2009, was also a three-sport star. In addition to hockey, he also played football and basketball. On the ice, he served as team captain as a senior for Riley, despite having no hockey experience prior to his arrival at the U.S. Military Academy.

Olympic gold medals and international competition and success are also a part of the Army hockey tradition.

From Jack Riley and Larry Palmer winning gold medals to players competing in the World University Games and pre-Olympic Tours, Army hockey has traveled the globe.

Riley, Army's head coach for 36 seasons, was behind the bench for the 1960 U.S. Olympic team and pulled off a series of stunning upsets on the way to winning the gold medal.

To build team unity, he named his lines Red, White and Blue instead of the standard first, second and third lines and preached fitness.

A 7-5 win over Czechoslovakia was followed by a 12-1 win over Australia before they opened medal play with a 6-3 victory over Sweden.

The U.S. followed that up with a 2-1 upset against gold-medal favorite Canada and a 9-1 pasting of Germany.

Riley then guided the Americans past Russia, 3-2, marking the first time in history a U.S. hockey team had beaten a Soviet team.

The rematch with the Czechs was closer but following a 9-4 win that included six unanswered goals by the Americans, the celebration was set. A standing ovation on the plane ride home was followed by a military police escort at West Point and a victory gathering.

Riley also participated as a skater internationally, competing in the '48 Olympics in Stockholm where the team finished fourth despite defeating Italy 3-1 and Poland 31-1. Riley scored the game-winning goal in a 4-3 win over England but Canada won the gold medal.

Palmer, a three-time letterwinner for Riley at West Point, joined the gold-medal winning team following his graduation in 1959 as the back-up goaltender.

Scott Schulze, a defenseman who registered 90 points prior to his graduation from West Point in 1990, was a member of Team U.S.A. in the World University Games in 1989 in Sapporo, Japan.

The 1991 World University Games' U.S. roster featured classmates Todd Tamburino and Scott Williams during competition in Sophia, Bulgaria. Williams was a 1991 graduate with 31 points while Tamburino collected 57 points from his defenseman position.

Ed Crowley, a 1948 graduate, was an alternate on the 1948 squad with Riley while Paul DeGironimo was part of a pre-Olympic Tour prior to his graduation in 1987.

THE NHL AT TATE RINK

West Point has become a popular training stop for NHL teams. Team visits have ranged from a day to a week and usually include lunch in the Cadet Mess Hall with the Corps of Cadets, military-style training on and off post, utilization of Tate Rink and its locker room and work in the O'Meara, Malek, Dawkins Class of 1959 Strength Development Center.

The Florida Panthers, Pittsburgh Penguins, New York Rangers, Philadelphia Flyers, Buffalo Sabres and New Jersey Devils are among the NHL teams that have worked out at West Point. The U.S. Junior National team and Polish National Team have also taken advantage of the state-of-the-art facilities.

"Having the opportunity to coach here at West Point is both an honor and a privilege. On a daily basis, you have an opportunity to interact with the most impressive young people that this country has to offer. Knowing that in some small way, you as a coach help develop these young men to become the future leaders – in not only the U.S. Army but in this country – makes coaching here at West Point both a rewarding and humbling experience."

"When first stepping foot on the academy grounds, I was immediately impressed with the tremendous amount of history behind every door. The sense of pride within West Point is second to none, and I feel honored to become a part of this storied tradition. Coach Riley and his staff run a first-class program with a family atmosphere and I am grateful to assist in those efforts. This community has been extremely welcoming and I feel privileged to have the opportunity to coach the future leaders of this country here at West Point."

– ASSISTANT COACH TREVOR LARGE

"West Point is an extremely special place because it forces students out of their comfort zone. Additionally, while demands are extremely high, West Point also offers you every tool you need to be successful."

– SENIOR ALTERNATE CAPTAIN ALEX McRAE

"I think what makes West Point so special is the experience and the people. The culture of the school and the camaraderie amongst students is nothing like I've seen at other college campuses; there truly is nothing like it. Here, you make friends for life. "

– SENIOR CAPTAIN MARCEL ALVAREZ

"West Point is different because of all the constant demands put on the student. And just as frequently, we find that we're able to do more than we had thought we could, whether it's a day of tests, obstacle courses, practice or mentorship. Also, going through tough times together with your classmates creates a tight bond. Lastly, the standard of excellence in every aspect of life here is what separates this institution from most others."

– SENIOR CAPTAIN MIKE HULL

"Everyone here at West Point that they surround you with, whether it be faculty, instructors, coaches or support staff all want to see you succeed and will put you in the best position to do so. They are devoted to your development as a leader and as a person and it makes our time here meaningful. I don't think you can get that at any other institution."

– SENIOR BILL DAY

"The educational reputation along with a great sports tradition is what makes West Point so special. As does all of the great things the ones who came before have gone on to do."

– SENIOR MARK DUBE

"West Point is special because it allows you to become a better person. You get to know a lot of great people that have experience needed to teach you."

– JUNIOR CODY IKKALA

OUTDOOR SCRIMMAGE

Each year, the Army hockey team makes the trek on Route 9W to Bear Mountain State Park for an outdoor scrimmage. Often held around the Christmas break, the team travels in vans for a workout outside.

Teams are chosen by the captains and then sticks are thrown in the middle of the rink where a player randomly choose who uses what model.

What follows is a high-intensity game with nothing but pride on the line, held in one of the most spectacular settings of the Hudson Valley.

HOCKEY FACILITIES

Holleder Center, the home of Tate Rink and Army Hockey, is located next to venerable Michie Stadium on the sprawling acreage of West Point.

Holleder Center, a 131,000 square foot facility, was completed on Oct. 1, 1985, and houses Tate Rink, Christl Arena, offices for the Army hockey staff, administrative offices, the Army Ticket Office and an athletic training room.

Tate Rink, with a capacity of 2,525 fans, has served as home ice for 25 years and continues to attract fans in record numbers while proving a true "home ice" advantage for the Black Knights.

Army christened Tate Rink with a 5-0 victory over Ryerson on Oct. 25, 1985 and has enjoyed success at home ever since, with a .500 or better record 20 times and a winning percentage greater of than .600.

In excess of 30,000 people have turned out to Tate Rink in each of the past 20 seasons to support the Black Knights.

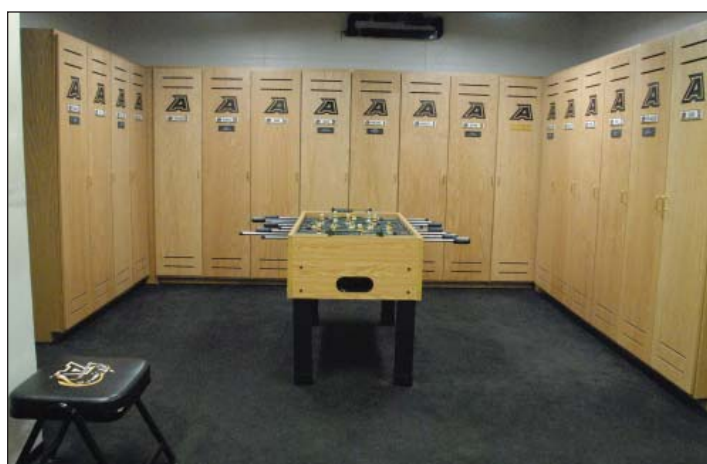

In 1996-97, the Black Knights set a third consecutive attendance mark, attracting 42,929 fans. The all-time single-game attendance record for Tate Rink is 3,147, established in 1988-89 when Army edged Rensselaer, 4-3.

New dasher boards, seamless glass and a new ice surface are among the recent upgrades made to Tate Rink. Other recent renovations include: a Daktronics scoreboard, installation of 32 television-quality lights with 600- and 1,000-watt settings and installation of a Double-PLY, Low-E ceiling.

Premium rink-side seating and a hospitality area are the newest additions to Tate Rink. Twenty-four seats were added to the North end of the rink and for the third consecutive year, fans will have the chance to visit the hospitality area.

The hockey players benefit from a spacious locker room right outside the ice surface. Included in the space is a locker room, changing room, team room, athletic training room and the team's video suite. The team room and video suite are the latest additions. Donations by players, families and friends of Army Hockey helped complete the team room that includes large sofas, a big-screen television, surround sound, study carousels and wireless Internet.

WHY WEST POINT

FRANK BORMAN

"I think if my dear mother were alive, she would tell you nothing comes close to graduating from West Point, even going to the moon."

- ASTRONAUT FRANK BORMAN

"The combination of an education at West Point and the experience of a career in the armed services will prepare you in a unique way for a rich diversity of further career and service in civilian life."

- HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER GLENN DAVIS

"I believe in the code ... 'Duty, Honor, Country.' I believe in service to one's country. The institution of the armed forces has thrived on its commitment to developing excellence. It is meritocracy in action. Race, religion, wealth, background count not."

- PRESIDENT GEORGE H.W. BUSH

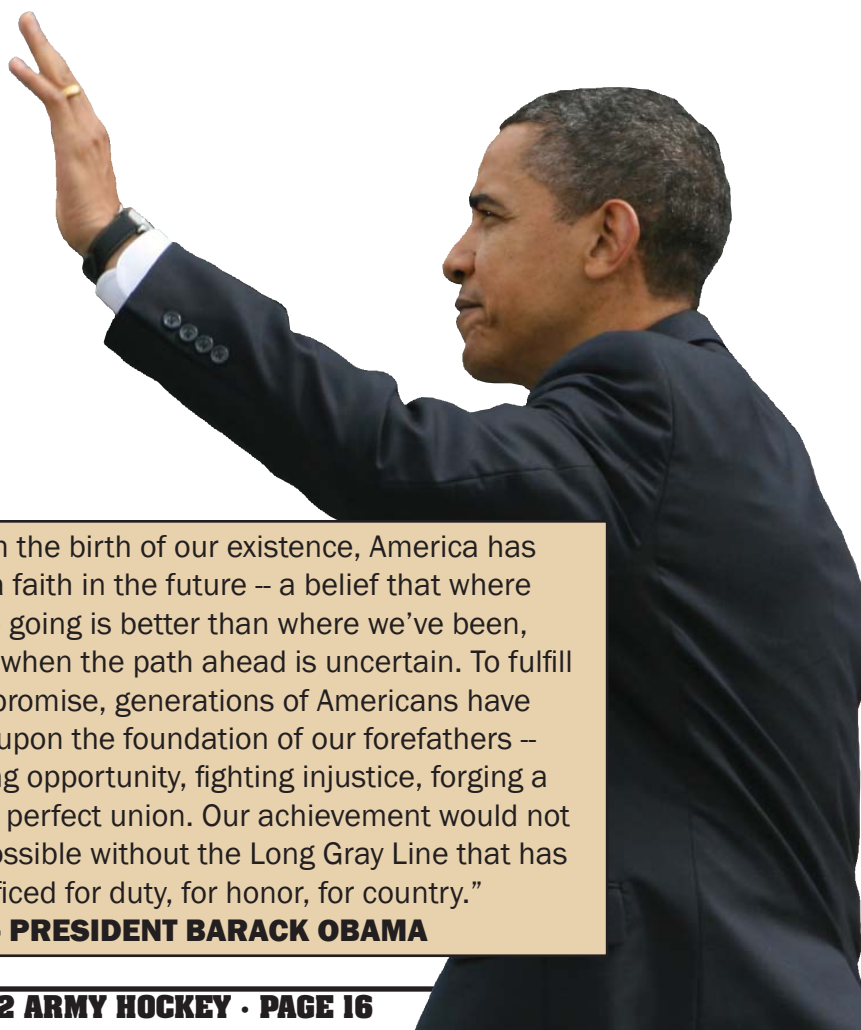

GLENN DAVIS

GEORGE H.W. BUSH

"From the birth of our existence, America has had a faith in the future – a belief that where we're going is better than where we've been, even when the path ahead is uncertain. To fulfill that promise, generations of Americans have built upon the foundation of our forefathers – finding opportunity, fighting injustice, forging a more perfect union. Our achievement would not be possible without the Long Gray Line that has sacrificed for duty, for honor, for country."

- PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA

WHY WEST POINT

"My four years at West Point were wonderful. I loved every minute of it and particularly the last three years. I loved the history. I loved the tradition. I liked wearing the uniform. I felt like I belonged there. Everything was meaningful to me. There is no question in my mind the proudest day of my father's life was the day I graduated from West Point. There is a picture of the two of us standing on 'The Plain' and he is just beaming."

- GENERAL H. NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF

"I was so proud to be on the verge of entering the only institution in American society at that time that was totally integrated, in which I would have the opportunity to rise, based solely on performance and ability. The nation always looks to West Point and always looks to each and every one of you to follow always the angels of your nature."

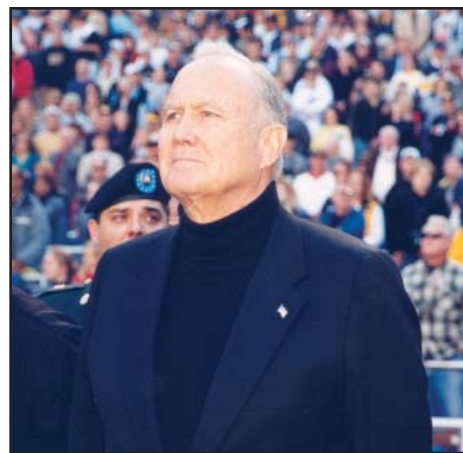

- GENERAL COLIN POWELL

"In every corner of America, the words 'West Point' command immediate respect. This place where the Hudson River bends is more than a fine institution of learning. The United States Military Academy is the guardian of values that have shaped the soldiers who have shaped the world."

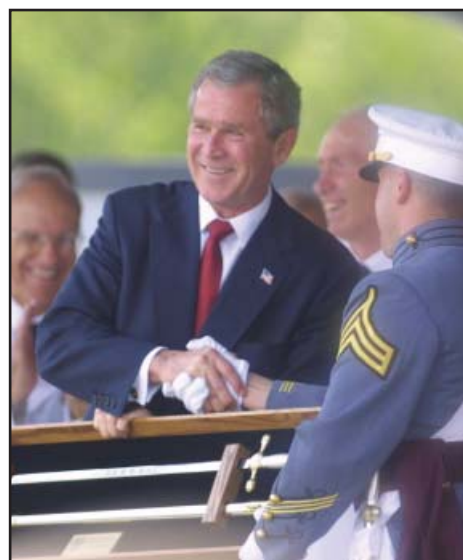

- PRESIDENT GEORGE W. BUSH

"How great it must be, gosh how great it must be to be a member of this Corps. To know that camaraderie of discipline, of manners, of courtesy, of human sensibility, of one's duty to his fellow man."

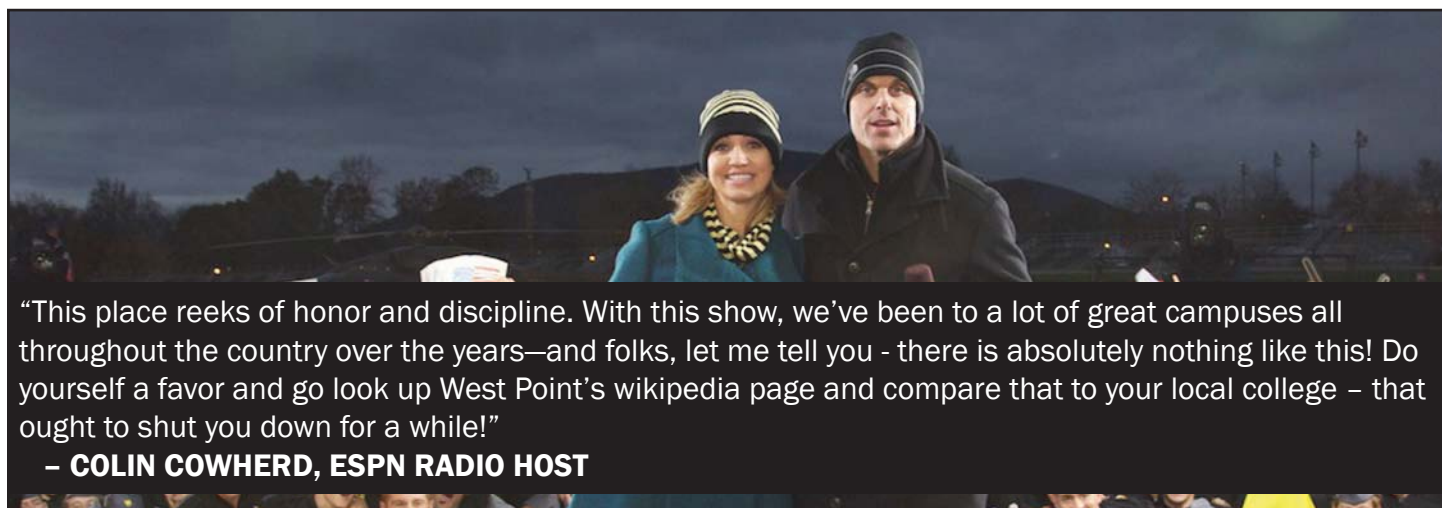

- JOURNALIST WALTER CRONKITE

NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF

GEORGE W. BUSH

"This place reeks of honor and discipline. With this show, we've been to a lot of great campuses all throughout the country over the years—and folks, let me tell you - there is absolutely nothing like this! Do yourself a favor and go look up West Point's wikipedia page and compare that to your local college - that ought to shut you down for a while!"

- COLIN COWHERD, ESPN RADIO HOST

PETE DAWKINS

"Any of us who went through the process; anyone who felt the flame of that furnace, came away altered in the way we go about running our lives. Some part of it is the belief that you are not only doing it for personal glory, but you do it because it is your responsibility. It's part of being a member of The Corps and each of us that have felt that magic feel especially privileged to have done so."

- HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER PETE DAWKINS

"As I look back over my career in government, in business, of course in the military, I think West Point was a very influential experience. It hardened a sense of discipline, a sense of responsibility, duty and integrity and also very happily combined an alertness of mind and body."

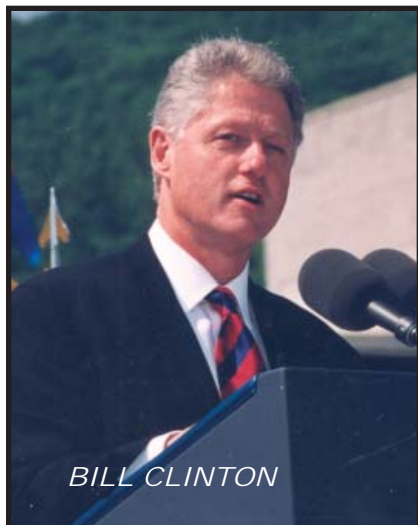

- FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE ALEXANDER HAIG

ALEXANDER HAIG

"For here we train the men and women whose duty it is to defend the Republic, the men and women whose profession is watchfulness, whose skill is vigilance, whose calling is to guard the peace, but if need be, to fight and win."

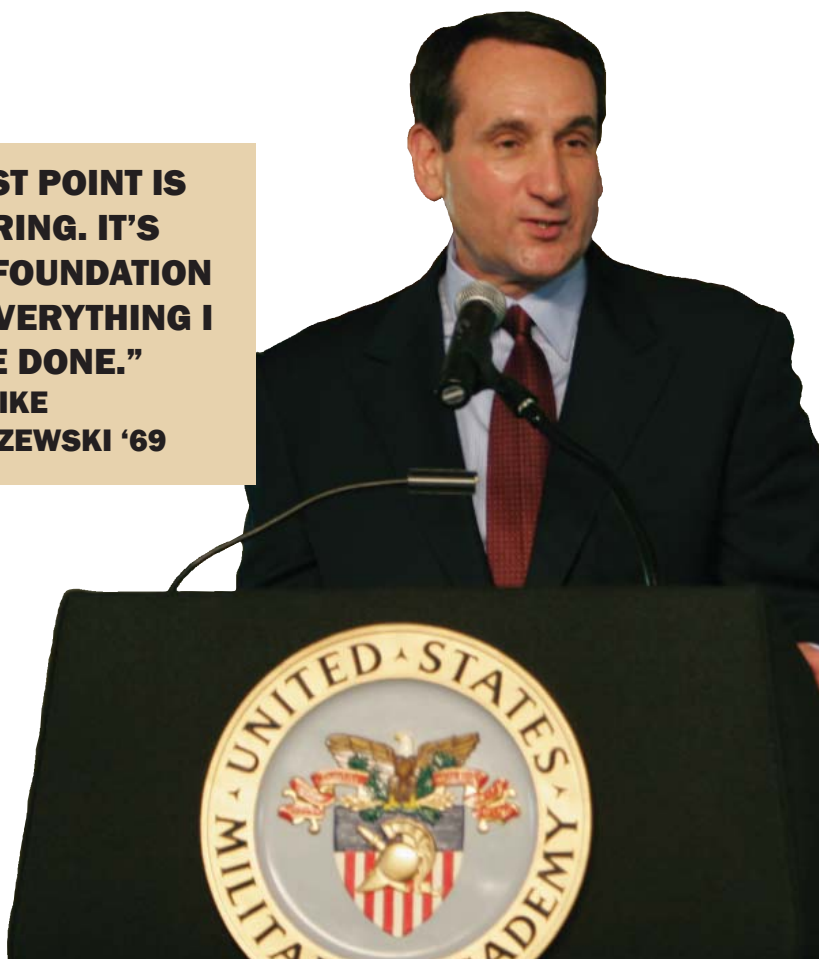

- PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN

BILL CLINTON

- MIKE
KRZYZEWSKI '69

WHY WEST POINT

"In the evening of my memory, always I come back to West Point. Always there echoes and re-echoes ... Duty – Honor – Country. Today marks my final roll call with you. But I want you to know, when I cross the river, my last conscious thoughts will be of The Corps ... and The Corps ... and The Corps ..."

- GENERAL DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

"As I look back on my life, I'll always revere the opportunities that came along that brought about the choice I made to go to West Point. I just feel that it was fundamental in molding the fabric of my life. The experiences that I had at West Point, they were irreplaceable."

- ASTRONAUT EDWIN "BUZZ" ALDRIN

"You have ahead of you the best of all professions. Being a leader is the best thing you can possibly be and you're at a school that will make you the best possible leader. West Point is the ring. It's the foundation of everything I have done."

- HEAD COACH MIKE KRZYZEWSKI

"This nation is grateful that four years ago every man and woman graduating today made a life-changing decision. You left the comforts and familiar surroundings of civilian life, and devoted yourselves to one of the noblest professions in a free country—the profession of arms."

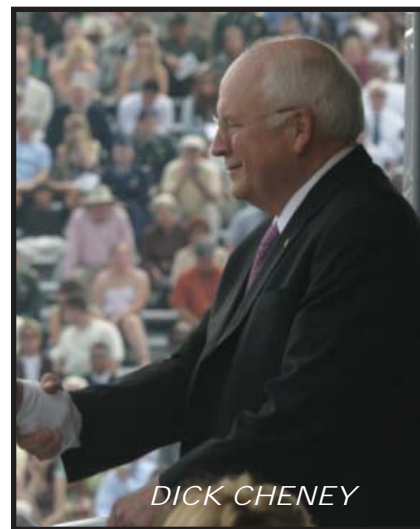

- FORMER VICE PRESIDENT DICK CHENEY

"West Point's graduates have served America in many, many ways. Not only by leading troops into combat, but also by exploring frontiers, founding universities, laying out the railroads, building the Panama Canal, running corporations, serving in the Congress and The White House, and walking on the moon. Through our history, whenever duty called, the men and women of West Point have never failed us, and I speak for all Americans when I say, I know you never will."

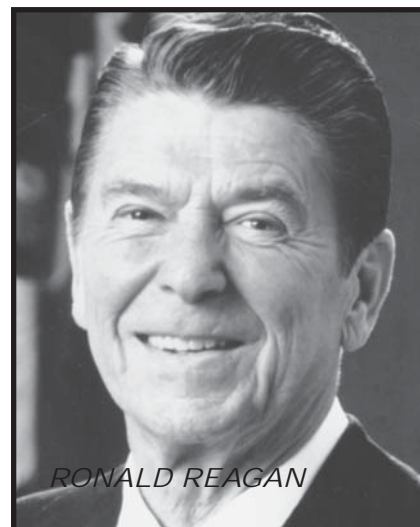

- PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

DICK CHENEY

RONALD REAGAN

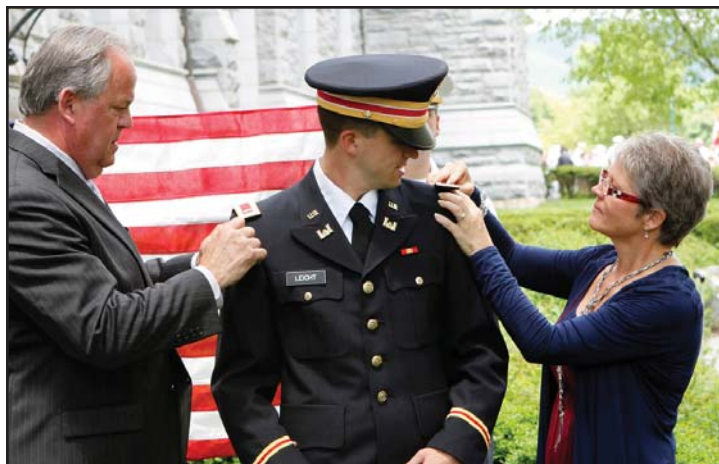

The United States Military Academy is renowned because of its historic and distinguished reputation as a military academy, and as a leading, progressive institution of higher education. Made legendary in books and movies produced over the years, the Academy's "Long Gray Line" of graduates includes some of our nation's most famous and influential men: Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson, George S. Patton, Omar Bradley, Douglas MacArthur, Dwight Eisenhower and Norman Schwarzkopf.

Because of this superb education and leadership experience, West Point graduates historically have been sought for high level civilian and military leadership positions. Their numbers include two U.S. presidents, several ambassadors, state governors, legislators, judges, cabinet members, educators, astronauts and corporate executives.

Today, West Point continues to provide hundreds of young men and women the unique opportunity to develop physically, ethically and intellectually while building a foundation for an exciting, challenging and rewarding career as an Army officer in the service of our nation. Cadets have much more responsibility in running the Academy than students in most other colleges or universities. It adds to the leadership experience.

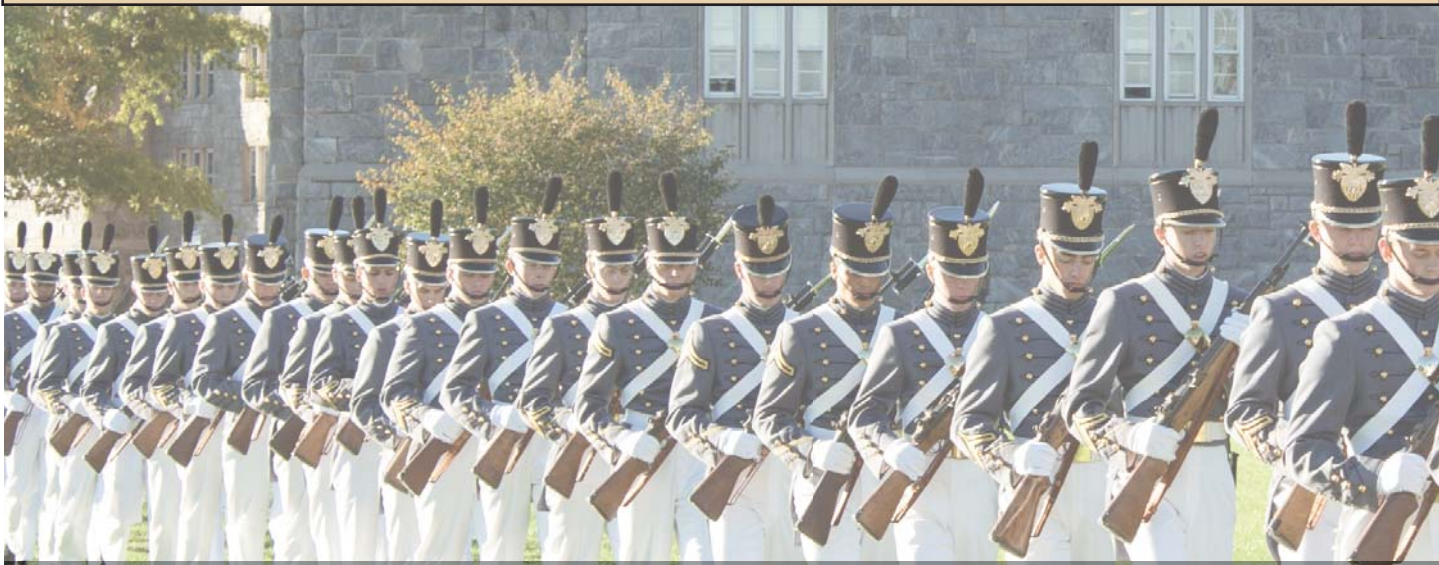

Cadets succeed at West Point because of the support they receive from the staff and faculty. After all, many faculty members are West Point graduates and understand the challenge cadets face on a daily basis. They also serve as ideal role models, showing cadets what Army life is like.

The U.S. Military Academy's primary strength is its ability to develop leaders of character who are committed to "Duty, Honor, Country" and selfless service to our nation.

ROBERT E. LEE '29

The Academy's ninth Superintendent (1852-55), Lee was a model cadet during his four years at West Point. He graduated second in his class and never earned a single demerit during his four years at the Academy. At the beginning of the Civil War, he was selected to serve as Commanding General of the Army, but instead resigned his commission and was named General-in-Chief of the Confederate Army from 1861 to 1865. Lee's surrender to Ulysses S. Grant (USMA 1843), at Appomattox Court House, Va., ended the Civil War. Fort Lee, Va., was named in his honor.

ULYSSES S. GRANT '43

Grant distinguished himself during the Civil War at the Battle of Vicksburg in 1863; his victory secured control of the Mississippi River for the Union. President Abe Lincoln later appointed him Commanding General of the Army in March 1864. On April 9, 1865, at Appomattox Court House, Va., Robert E. Lee (USMA 1829) surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia to him, ending the Civil War. Grant later served as the 18th President of the United States from 1869 to 1877. Today, his image graces the $50 bill.

GEORGE W. GOETHALS '80

Goethals became an architect and was builder of the Panama Canal, 1904 to 1914.

JOHN J. PERSHING '86

Considered the second most senior officer in Army history, behind only George Washington, Pershing served as commander of the American Expeditionary Force during World War I. The two-million-plus troops of the AEF made a decisive contribution to the defeat of Imperial Germany. Pershing's abilities as a leader distinguished him among European commanders, and through repeated successes on the battlefield, promoted American prestige around the world. He served as Army Chief of Staff in 1921, and was named General of the Armies of the United States upon his retirement in 1924.

DOUGLAS MacARTHUR '03

After World War I, MacArthur returned to West Point to serve as the Academy's 31st Superintendent from 1919 to 1922. During that time, he was responsible for the revitalization of the Academy. He was later promoted to General of the Army and served as Supreme Allied Commander in the Pacific Theater during World War II. During that time, he received the Medal of Honor for leading defense preparation and operations on the Philippine Islands. He later served as Supreme Allied Commander, Japan, and as commander, United Nations Command in the Far East. He was one of only five officers to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars).

GEORGE S. PATTON JR. '09

"Old Blood and Guts," Patton was one of the most colorful commanders in the Army. During World War II the famed commander of the 2nd Armored Division and later the Third Army displayed courage and daring as prominently as the pair of ivory handled revolvers he wore. Patton accomplished one of the most remarkable feats in military history in December 1944, when he quickly turned the Third Army northward to reinforce the Allied southern flank against the German attack in the Battle of the Bulge. The General's doctrine of aggressive employment of massive armor forces continue to prove themselves in combat arenas around the world.

OMAR N. BRADLEY '15

During his career, Bradley earned a reputation as one of the best infantry commanders in World War II. He commanded the 82nd Airborne and 28th Infantry Divisions before going on to command the 1st Army and the 12th Army Group. After the war he served as Army Chief of Staff from 1948 to 1949 and served as the first Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from 1949 to 1953. He was the last Army officer to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars), and the Bradley fighting vehicle is named in his honor.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER '15

During World War II, Eisenhower served as Supreme Commander of Allied Forces Europe from 1943 to 1944, during which he led the D-Day invasion of Europe. During that time, he was promoted to General of the Army (five stars). After the war, he served as Army Chief of Staff from 1945 to 1948 and was named President of Columbia University in 1948. He served as the 34th President of the United States from 1953 to 1961 and was one of only five officers to be promoted to General of the Army (five stars).

ALEXANDER M. HAIG JR. '47

Haig served as Chief of Staff to President Richard Nixon from 1973 to 1974; Supreme Allied Commander in Europe 1974 to 1979; President of United Technologies Corporation 1980 to 1981 and Secretary of State during the Reagan administration from 1981 to 1982.

FRANK BORMAN '50

An astronaut from 1962 to 1970, Borman commanded the first circumlunar flight of the earth. He later served as President of Eastern Airlines.

FIDEL V. RAMOS '50

One of the Academy's international cadets, Ramos served as a Philippine Army officer after graduation. He eventually became the country's military Chief of Staff and later Secretary of National Defense. He also served as President of the Republic of the Philippines from 1992 to 1998.

EDWIN E. ALDRIN '51

An astronaut from 1963 to 1972, Aldrin participated in the first manned lunar landing with Michael Collins (USMA '52) and was the second man to walk on the moon.

EDWARD WHITE '52

An astronaut from 1962 to 1967, White was the first man to walk in space and was one of the three astronauts killed in the Apollo 1 disaster in 1967.

H. NORMAN SCHWARZKOPF '56

As Commander-in-Chief, United States Central Command from 1988 to 1991, Schwarzkopf's command ultimately responded to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait with the largest U.S. deployment since the Vietnam War, including portions of the Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps as well as units from dozens of nations around the world. After retiring, Schwarzkopf received the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

PETER M. DAWKINS '59

Dawkins was Cadet Brigade Commander (First Captain of the U.S. Corps of Cadets) as a senior and became the third Heisman Trophy winner in Army football history. He later served as chairman and CEO of Primerica.

JAMES V. KIMSEY '62

Kimsey was the founding chairman of America Online, and was named chairman emeritus in 1996. He founded the Kimsey Foundation in 1996.

MICHAEL W. KRZYZEWSKI '69

Krzyzewski served as head basketball coach at West Point from 1974 to 1979 before assuming similar duties at Duke University. Krzyzewski has led the Blue Devils to three national championships and was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in October 2001. He coached the U.S. at the 2008 Olympics in Beijing.

RAYMOND T. ODIERNO '76

Odierno commanded the 4th Infantry Division during the fall of 2003 which, along with Special Forces units, captured Saddam Hussein in December of that year. Odierno helped plan and coordinate the raid that netted Iraq's fallen dictator.

ROBERT S. KIMBROUGH '89

Kimrough was named one of 11 new astronaut candidates by NASA in May 2004. Kimrough ranks among Army Baseball's career leaders in saves. A veteran of Desert Storm, he currently works for NASA in Houston as a flight simulation engineer and participated in a space shuttle mission last fall.

The Center For Enhanced Performance (CEP) ensures that every cadet now has the opportunity to develop expertise in the key mental skills which underlie high-level performance in all situations.

It offers three programs designed to maximize West Point cadet performance, as well as export these critical mental skills to the United States Army at large.

The Performance Enhancement Program (PEP) uses state-of-the-art training methods and sophisticated audio/video technologies, while broadening the applications to include cadets from every performance endeavor.

This training, as comprehensive and detailed as any received by professional and Olympic athletes, enables cadets to develop confidence under pressure, concentration amidst distractions, and composure during times of stress.

Cadets participate in individual training sessions, during free periods in their academic schedule, learning, and then applying the skills of imagery, attention control, stress and energy management, and goal setting. Biofeedback training allows cadets to learn crucial self-regulation techniques.

Sophisticated audio and video simulations of game and practice situations are created to facilitate guided imagery and mental rehearsal of specific physical, academic, or military skills.

The Academic Excellence Program provides instruction in academic support skills designed to help cadets succeed in the classroom.

Three classes are offered throughout the academic year: 1) the Student Success Course, a 20 lesson course combining the study skills of textbook marking, note taking, test preparation and time management, with the mental skills such as attention control, confidence building, stress and energy management; 2) Reading Efficiency, a 10 lesson course designed to improve reading speed and comprehension through drill and utilization of modern computer technologies; and 3) Information Literacy and Critical Thinking, a 20-lesson course taught jointly with the USMA Library staff created to enhance problem-solving skills and critically read and evaluate research.

The CEP Tutor Program organizes final exam preparation sessions at the end of each semester, and cadet tutors for nearly every academic course are available throughout the year.

Most recently the CEP created the Military Enhancement Program (MEP), designed to apply the skills and techniques taught by the Performance Enhancement Program within a military context.

MEP Training is now nested throughout the 47 months of the West Point experience.

These programs are unique aids to the every member of the Corps of Cadets who seeks to achieve their full potential in academics, athletics and military training.

The Center for Enhanced Performance is a powerful demonstration of the Academy's commitment to provide the finest training available to the future leaders of the nation.

The results the program has had on hockey players is undeniable.

Eighteen players, or 66.67% of the roster, made the dean's list during the 2009-10 Academic Year, the most of the Academy's 25 NCAA sports.

The following year, the hockey team again posted the highest GPA among varsity teams.

Army had 17 players selected to the Academic Team by the Atlantic Hockey Association in each of the last two seasons. To be eligible, players must have at least a 3.0 grade-point average in both semesters. In all, Army has had 85 selections to the Academic Team.

THE LIFE OF A CADET

Life at the United States Military Academy is busy. Many say cadets are the busiest college students in the country. Classes and study, physical education or athletics, military duties and recreation fill many hours of the day.

The West Point academic calendar is broken down into Day One and Day Two. Below are the typical schedules for junior goaltender Ryan Leets. A Civil Engineering major, Leets is a two-time Atlantic Hockey Association Top Scholar-Athlete with the top GPA among goaltenders.

OBC Officer Basic Course
A cadet's first stop after graduation from the Academy. OBC precedes a cadet's first assignment.

BRANCH (i.e. Field Artillery, Infantry)
Specific part of the Army that each cadet chooses to join upon graduation. Cadets receive their "branch" in February of their senior year. What you branch determines where you are stationed for OBC.

HONOR CODE "A Cadet Will Not Lie, Cheat, Steal or Tolerate Those Who Do." The creed, or oath, each cadet takes upon entering the Academy. It is the code by which all cadets must live.

Peterson's Guide ranks West Point as one of the most competitive colleges in the nation and Forbes ranked West Point as American's best college in 2009. There are approximately 12,000 applications each year for less than 1,200 cadet vacancies. Applicants compete for vacancies and are evaluated in three areas: academics, physical aptitude and demonstrated leadership ability.

Cadet vacancies are allocated to each member of Congress and to the representatives to Congress from Washington, D.C., Guam, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, American Samoa and the Mariana Islands. Many foreign governments are also invited to nominate cadets under a Department of State program, so the student population at West Point is incredibly diverse.

The following is an overview of the first three steps toward gaining admittance to West Point. Further information regarding the admissions process and orientation visits is available by calling the Director of Admissions at (845) 938-4041. Should you wish to schedule an official visit, contact the Army Volleyball office at (845) 938-7744.

DETERMINE IF YOU MEET ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

To meet West Point's minimum entrance requirements, you must: be at least 17 but not yet 23 on the day you enter West Point; be a U.S. citizen at the time you enter (except for foreign cadets as noted above); not be married or pregnant, nor have a legal obligation to support a child or other dependent.

Additionally, you must meet academic, medical and physical qualifications. To be considered academically qualified, you should have an above-average high school or college academic record and strong performance on the standardized American College Testing (ACT) Assessment Program Exam or the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). Additionally, you should take a strong college preparatory program in high school, including four years of English, four years of math (including trigonometry), two years of laboratory science, two years of a foreign language and one year of U.S. history.

To be medically qualified, you must be in good physical and mental health and pass a medical exam administered by the Department of Defense.

To meet physical qualification standards, you must demonstrate above-average strength, endurance and agility. The West Point Field Force administers a Physical Aptitude Exam to measure these traits.

The exam includes: pull-ups for men/flexed arm hang for women, basketball throw from the kneeling position, standing long jump, a 300-yard shuttle run and a two-minute bout of push-ups.

APPLY FOR A NOMINATION

A nomination is the legal authority for West Point to consider a candidate for admission. Nominations are available from every member of Congress and from the representatives to Congress listed above. At a minimum, you should apply to your two senators, your representative and the Vice President.

Nominations are also available, from the President, for children of career military personnel, and from the Secretary of the Army for enlisted soldiers in the Regular Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard; for children of deceased or 100% disabled veterans; children of persons awarded the Medal of Honor; and students in Army ROTC, Army Junior ROTC, or Navy, Air Force, or Marine Junior ROTC units which have been designated as Honor Units with Distinction.

START A FILE AT WEST POINT

West Point will start your candidate file upon receipt of a completed Precandidate Questionnaire. You may obtain a questionnaire by writing or calling:

Director of Admissions
U.S. Military Academy
646 Swift Road
West Point, NY 10996-1905
(845) 938-3188

Automated admissions information is also available at the above phone number. Additionally, you can request a questionnaire from the Academy's World Wide Web page at: www.usma.edu/Admissions. The web site also includes additional information about the admissions process as well as the courses of instruction available at West Point.

Finally, if you are at least a high school junior and are sincerely interested in attending West Point and serving as an officer in the U.S. Army, you should talk to your school guidance counselor. Each counselor's office has a copy of the latest West Point catalog and information to help you with your college choices.

Stationed on the first floor of Kimsey Athletic Center, Army's athletic training department moved into its new and spacious home in the spring of 2003. The athletic training room now covers 9,500 square feet, housing the finest equipment available for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. Highlights of the facility include a 1,202-square-foot cardiovascular room containing more than 25 pieces of equipment; a state-of-the-art hydrotherapy area equipped with a 2,018-square-foot rehabilitation pool, Jacuzzi, two large pools, and four regular pools; 10 treatment tables; five modular taping tables; high-density storage; and a physician's office with X-ray capability. The training room also features a vast array of the latest treatment and rehabilitation equipment. Thanks to the expansive new treatment area, Army's athletic training staff can service countless Black Knight athletes simultaneously so they are able to realize their full potential on the "fields of friendly strife."

O'MEARA, MALEK, DAWKINS CLASS OF 1959 STRENGTH DEVELOPMENT CENTER

An integral component in Army's intercollegiate athletic program is the strength and conditioning department. The most visible sign of Army's commitment in this area is the O'Meara, Malek, Dawkins, Class of 1959 Strength Development Center in Kimsey Athletic Center, one of the finest facilities in the nation. The monstrous 20,000-square-foot center is located on the second floor of Kimsey Athletic Center and features 30 tons of plates and dumbbells; 15 pieces of cardiovascular equipment, including six high-speed treadmills; a state-of-the-art weight training area with 16 rack and platform training stations, as well as a separate dumbbell area; and top-of-the-line Hammer strength equipment. Under the direction of Scott Swanson, the O'Meara, Malek, Dawkins, Class of 1959 Strength Development Center rivals any training facility in the country.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL
DAVID H. HUNTOON JR.
Superintendent

Lieutenant General David H. Huntoon, Jr. became the 58th Superintendent of the United States Military Academy in July 2010. He had previously served as Director of the Army Staff in January 2008.

Huntoon was commissioned from West Point in 1973. From 1973-1986, he served as an infantry officer in a series of command and staff assignments with the 3rd Infantry Regiment at Fort Myer, Va., the 9th Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., the 7th Army Training Command at Vilseck, Germany, and with the 3rd Infantry Division in Aschaffenburg, Germany.

From 1986-1988, Huntoon attended the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. and the School for Advanced Military Studies. He then served in the Directorate of Plans, XVIII Airborne Corps, Fort Bragg, N.C., as Senior War Plans Officer (Operation Just Cause), Deputy Director of Plans (Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm), and Director of Plans.

Huntoon commanded 5th Battalion, 20th Infantry (Mechanized) at Camp Casey, Korea, and served as Chief of Plans, CJ3, Combined Forces Command and United Nations Command, Yongsan from 1992-94. In 1994-95, he was the Army's National Security Fellow at the Hoover Institution, Stanford University. He then took command of the 3rd U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard), Fort Myer, Va.

Huntoon's next assignment was the Executive Officer to the Chief of Staff of the United States Army. Prior to that assignment, he served as the Assistant Division Commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, Fort Hood, Texas, and from 2000-2002, he was the Deputy Commandant of the US Army Command and General Staff College.

Huntoon moved on to become the Director of Strategy, Plans and Policy, Army G3, at the Pentagon. In August 2003, he was assigned as the 46th Commandant, United States Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

Huntoon's awards include the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit (6th Award), and the Bronze Star; Expert Infantryman's Badge, Parachute Qualification Badge, and the Ranger Tab.

He has a Masters of Arts in International Relations from Georgetown University and a Masters in Military Arts and Sciences from the CGSC Advanced Military Studies Program.

BRIGADIER GENERAL
THEODORE D. MARTION
Commandant of Cadets

Brigadier General Theodore D. Martin, a former Army swimmer and captain of the 1982-83 Black Knights' swimming team, returned to West Point in July 2011 to assume command of the United States Corps of Cadets as the 73rd Commandant of Cadets. Martin graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1983 and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the armor branch of the U.S. Army.

His military education includes the Armor Officer Basic Course (cavalry track), the Infantry Officer Advanced Course, the Naval College of Command and Staff, and the Army War College. He holds a master's degree in national security & strategic studies from the Naval War College, a master's degree in strategic studies from the Army War College, and a master's degree in business from Webster University.

Martin's command experience includes Commander, C Company, 2nd Battalion, 64th Armor Regiment, 3rd Infantry Division, Federal Republic of Germany; Commander, 1st Squadron, 10th U.S. Cavalry Regiment (Buffalo Soldiers), 4th Infantry Division, Fort Hood, Texas and Operation Iraqi Freedom in Iraq; Commander, 1st Heavy Brigade Combat Team, 4th Infantry Division, Fort Hood, Texas and Operation Iraqi Freedom in Iraq; Commander, Operations Group (COG), National Training Center, Fort Irwin, Calif.; and Commandant & 45th Chief of Armor, U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Beyond command, Martin has served in a wide variety of staff and leadership assignments including duty in the 1st Armor Training Brigade, Fort Knox, Ky.; the Combined Arms Command-Training, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; Advisor to the Imam Mohammed bin Saud Brigade and later the Prince Sa'ad bin Abdul Rahman Brigade, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia; Joint Improvised Explosive Device-Defeat Task Force as the Iraq Field Team Leader, Baghdad, Iraq; and Human Resource Command, Alexandria, Va., as Armor Branch Chief and Chief of Combat Arms Division.

Brigadier General Martin's awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit with two oak leaf clusters, Bronze Star Medal with "V" device and two oak leaf clusters, Meritorious Service Medal with six oak leaf clusters, Army Commendation Medal with oak leaf cluster, and the Army Achievement Medal with four oak leaf clusters. Additionally, he has earned the Combat Action Badge and Parachutist Badge. Martin is a member of the 10th U.S. Cavalry Regiment (Buffalo Soldiers) and is the recipient of the Order of Saint George, the Order of Saint Barbara, and the Order of Saint Maurice (Primicerius).

BRIGADIER GENERAL
TIMOTHY E. TRAINOR
Dean of the Academic Board

Brigadier General Timothy E. Trainor, Ph.D., became the Dean of the Academic Board at the United States Military Academy in the summer of 2010. He previously served as professor and head of the Department of Systems Engineering at West Point where he taught courses in engineering management, systems engineering and decision analysis.

Trainor graduated with a Bachelor of Science from West Point in 1983 and entered the Engineer Branch of the U.S. Army. As an engineering officer, Trainor has served in operational assignments around the world, including Germany, Honduras, Fort Bragg, N.C., Fort Riley, Kans. and Sarajevo, Bosnia.

Trainor has a Master of Business Administration from the Fuqua School of Business at Duke and a doctorate degree in industrial engineering from North Carolina State University. He is a member of the Military Applications Society of the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences the Military Operations Research Society, the American Society for Engineering Management and the American Society of Engineering Education. He is a past president of Epsilon Mu Eta, the national Engineering Management Honor Society. Trainor is also a member of the Board of Fellows for the David Crawford School of Engineering at Norwich University.

As an analyst, Trainor helped develop the Installation Status Report that provides the Army a standardized means to assess infrastructure and environmental conditions on installations to support resource allocation decisions. He has applied decision analysis methods in completing an organizational analysis of the Army's Installation Management Agency and in assessing defense security cooperation programs.

Trainor deployed to Basrah, Iraq in the summer of 2007 and worked with the British-led Provincial Reconstruction Team in helping the provincial Iraqi leaders improve their infrastructure revitalization plans.

Trainor is married to Col. Donna Brazil, a 1983 graduate of West Point, who is a professor in the Department of Behavioral Sciences at the Academy. They have a daughter Cory, who is currently attending West Point, and two sons; Danny and Zach.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

BOO CORRIGAN
Director of Athletics

United States Military Academy Superintendent Lt. Gen. David H. Huntoon Jr., named the person selected to lead West Point's intercollegiate athletic department when he announced the hiring of Boo Corrigan as the Academy's director of athletics on Feb. 1, 2011.

Corrigan, who was the senior associate athletic director for external affairs at Duke University starting in August 2008, brings a wealth of leadership to his new post. He is a proven administrator with 18 years of experience in all areas of revenue generation, external affairs, staff management and leadership.

Corrigan's chief responsibilities at Duke included the oversight of the Blue Devil corporate partnerships and the Marketing, Promotions, Ticket, Internet Operations, Sports Information and Video Services departments. In only two years at Duke, Corrigan was responsible for the negotiation of multi-media rights to ISP, which increased annual rights more than 40 percent.

"First and foremost, I am honored to have the opportunity to work at the United States Military Academy, the West Point leadership and the U.S. Army," Corrigan said upon his hiring. "It is my privilege to serve those proud Americans that serve our country and to be at the greatest leadership institution in the world.

"I want to say specifically to our cadet-athletes that we will provide them the opportunity and the wherewithal to achieve to their highest ability and to provide our coaches with the opportunity to win championships, and build leaders of character. We will strive for our cadets to achieve great success in their academics, military training and athletic endeavors."

Army operates a 25-sport intercollegiate athletic program, highlighted by its nationally recognized football team. Under the direction of head coach Rich Ellerson the Black Knights finished 7-6 this season and closed the season with a win over SMU in the Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl.

A supervisor of the 2009 NCAA Champion women's tennis and 2010 NCAA Champion men's lacrosse programs, Corrigan was a part of three NCAA Championships at Duke in just two seasons. He is currently a member of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Rules committee and the Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Lacrosse Committee, while serving on the Executive Budget Committee at Duke.

Prior to arriving at Duke in August of 2008, he oversaw Notre Dame's corporate relations and marketing as an associate athletic director for five years.

During his stint at Notre Dame, Corrigan spearheaded the redesign of its official athletics website and creation of 15-20 hours of original video content weekly. That resulted in a 35 percent increase in page views and unique users. Corrigan also worked directly with ISP Sports, CSTV, and NBC Sports from a sales and marketing standpoint.

"We are excited about the selection of Boo Corrigan to be Army's athletic director," Huntoon said upon Corrigan's hiring. "He has wide experience in helping to lead a Division I athletic department and has excelled at the highest levels. He brings to the Military Academy a wealth of experience at some of the nation's elite athletic programs."

Before joining the staff at Notre Dame, Corrigan spent nearly three years as the associate athletic director for marketing at the United States Naval Academy. He was responsible for turning the marketing department from a deficit to profit in his first year with full budget responsibility for the department. Corrigan also was intimately involved with the re-branding of the Annual Giving Campaign (The Blue and Gold), which led to an increase of 75 percent year over year donations.

He previously spent a year as a partner in Corrigan Sports Enterprises, an entrepreneurial sports marketing company, in the Baltimore area – and also worked two years as an equity partner in mrgoodbucks.com, an e-commerce program that involved creation of affinity business relationships.

Corrigan also served two years as vice president of EMCEE Sports, a Baltimore-based sports marketing company with a focus on professional golf from 1997 through '99. In that role, he was responsible for a $2.5 million operating budget for the State Farm Senior Classic. He worked for Host Communications for two years, helping create relationships with various college and university athletic departments, and served as assistant director of marketing at Florida State from 1992-95.

"I want to thank my family and Duke University for the support and encouragement to make this possible, and look forward to serving as part of the Army team at West Point," Corrigan added.

The youngest son of former ACC commissioner Gene Corrigan, he is a 1990 University of Notre Dame graduate with a degree in economics. Corrigan is currently obtaining a masters in education in sports leadership with an expected 2011 graduation. He and his wife, the former Kristen Aceto, are the parents of three children, Finley, Tre and Brian.

When Brian Riley was named Army hockey's 16th head coach in 2004, he was familiar with West Point.

Following 14 years as an assistant to his brother Rob and a lifetime of hockey education from his father Jack, Brian Riley knew all about the U.S. Military Academy.

The knowledge, preparation and hard work have all paid off for Brian as he adds to the Riley legacy and Army hockey.

Just the third Army hockey coach in the past 61 years, Brian Riley has made his mark on a program coached by his father and brother in just seven seasons.

Three Atlantic Hockey Association Coach of the Year honors, seven consecutive Atlantic Hockey Association playoff berths, the first regular-season championship in program history and four players chosen to participate in the NCAA Frozen Four Skills Competition are among the accolades collected under Brian Riley.

Brian Riley succeeded his brother, Rob, who retired from coaching in 2004. Prior to Rob, Jack Riley, their father, stood behind the Black Knights' bench for 36 seasons. Rob Riley returned to coaching in 2010 when he was named head coach of the AHL's Springfield Falcons, the Columbus Blue Jackets' top minor league affiliate. In addition to his success at Army, Jack Riley also coached the U.S. Olympic hockey team to a stunning gold medal in the 1960 Games.

Utilizing a defensive system that focuses on physical, intense play and opportunistic scoring, Riley has led his squad to the playoffs in all seven of his seasons.

The 2010-11 team won 11 games and earned home ice for the playoffs while a pair of players – Marcel Alvarez and Cody Omilusik earned All-Atlantic Hockey League accolades. Among the victories was a 5-2 triumph at the University of Massachusetts at the Mullins Center, a dramatic 5-4 win at Air Force, a three-point weekend against Robert Morris and a 4-1 victory over AIC outdoors at Rentschler Field in East Hartford, Conn.

During the 2009-10 season, Riley helped the Black Knights to an 11-win season and the No. 6 seed in the conference playoffs. Among the points earned were a three-point weekend against Air Force at Tate Rink, a 4-4 overtime draw at Colgate and a 2-1 win at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, the second consecutive year of a non-conference win.

In the postseason, Riley was selected as an assistant coach of the East squad at the NCAA Frozen Four Skills Competition where he coached Army's Owen Meyer, the fourth Black Knight selected for the honor joining Brad Roberts (2006), Luke Flicek (2008) and Zach McKelvie (2009).

In 2008-09, with a team of 12 freshmen, Riley guided the Black Knights to the Atlantic Hockey Association playoffs for the sixth straight season. Included in the wins was a shocking upset of No. 2 Miami, 3-2, in the consolation game of the Ohio Hockey Classic.

Three years ago, Riley led Army to its first regular-season championship and won 19 games for the second consecutive season.

Army went 19-14-4 in 2007-08, winning the AHA regular-season title and the top seed in the conference tournament. For the second straight year, Army advanced to at least the semifinal round.

During the 2007-08 season, Army put together a league-best nine-game unbeaten streak (8-0-1) to clinch the regular-season title. Army won the first two games of the best-of-three series with Sacred Heart to advance to the semifinals where a loss to Mercyhurst ended the season.

In 2006-07, the Black Knights hosted a league playoff game at Tate Rink for the first time and beat Bentley, 6-2. They followed that with a 3-1 win over Connecticut in the semifinals before losing to Air Force in the finals.

Riley was named the league coach of the year for the first time in 2005-06 when the team finished fifth in conference play after overcoming a 0-7-1 start.

In his first campaign behind the Black Knights' bench, Riley engineered one of the biggest upsets in the NCAA when Army stunned Colgate, 3-2, in Hamilton, N.Y., for his first career win. Riley led his team to 11 wins during that initial season, setting the Academy record for most victories by a rookie head coach. He broke the record established by his brother, Rob, in 1986-87. In addition, the younger Riley also piloted the Black Knights to their first postseason win in more than a quarter century when Army defeated American International College, 5-3, in the first round of the Atlantic Hockey tournament.

Riley's father, Jack, started it all in 1951 when legendary football coach and athletic director at West Point, Earl "Red" Blaik, hired him to head the hockey program. What began as a one-year contract, turned into a 36-year Hall of Fame career that culminated in 542 victories.

Riley's brother, Rob, took the reins from his father in the fall of 1986 and racked up 306 victories of his own over 18 winters.

When Rob officially stepped down in the summer of 2004, he passed the torch (and family tradition) on to his younger brother.

Brian brings an extensive resume to his "dream job" at the Academy. No stranger to West Point or the "West Point Experience," the younger Riley had spent 14 years as an assistant coach to his brother, eventually rising to the position of associate head coach.

Brian played an integral role in recruiting many of the athletes that helped Army put together back-to-back 20-win seasons and tutored Corey and Ian Winer, former Colorado Avalanche forward Dan Hinote

Riley also recruited Zach McKelvie, a hulking defenseman now part of the Boston Bruins organization. Boston signed McKelvie to two free agent contracts while he was serving his country and invited him to NHL training camp this season before assigning him to their AHL affiliate in Providence, R.I.

Riley helped the Black Knights string together seven straight postseason appearances as members of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference and Atlantic Hockey. His expertise in working with the defense molded Army's past squads into one of the most stingy blue line units in college hockey.

A 1983 graduate of Brown, Riley began his coaching career in 1984 with a three-year stint as an assistant coach at SUNY Plattsburgh. During that period, the Cardinals advanced to the NCAA Division III Tournament three times, reaching the championship game twice.

In 1988, Riley moved to the Division I ranks at the University of Massachusetts-Lowell. There, he teamed with his cousin, Bill Riley, for one season, directing the River Hawks to the NCAA Tournament, giving him his fourth straight postseason appearance.

The following winter, Riley joined his brother's staff at West Point for the first time where he spent the next seven seasons. In 1996, the West Point native left the comfort and familiarity of the Academy, where he grew up, for the great Midwest and a head coaching position at Shattuck St. Mary's Prep School in Faribault, Minn. There, Riley carved out a stellar two-year coaching career in which his teams compiled an impressive 94-19-10 record. In his first season, Riley directed the squad to a 40-9-7 record before improving to 54-10-3 in 1997-98.

In 1999, Riley returned to West Point, where he served at his brother's side until assuming the head coaching position in 2004.

During his collegiate playing days, Riley co-captained Brown's hockey squad his senior season, earning honorable mention All-Ivy League. He was presented the Class of '36 Trophy for his outstanding contributions over his four-year career and the Patrick Jones Trophy for most team spirit.

Prior to starring for Brown, Riley attended New Hampton Prep and led the hockey team to a No. 1 national ranking among prep schools. He was chosen as the school's most outstanding athlete while captaining both the soccer and hockey teams.

Riley completed course work on his master's, earning a graduate degree in Education from Boston University, in May 2003.

Riley is married to the former Marybeth Feldman of Highland Falls, N.Y. The couple resides at West Point with their three children: Jack, 19, Danielle, 17, and Brendan, 15.

TREVOR LARGE

Assistant Coach

Fourth Season; Ferris State, 2003

Trevor Large begins his fourth season as an assistant coach with the Army hockey program.

A four-year player at Ferris State, Large was added to head coach Brian Riley's staff in September of 2008 and immediately took responsibility for Army's penalty kill unit and practice plans.

A tireless recruiter, Large plays a large role in recruiting for the Black Knights and has tutored talented and high-scoring forwards Owen Meyer, Mike Hull, Eric Sefchik and Cody Omilusik among many others.

Large also plays a prominent role in Army's video analysis and scouting reports.

Prior to arriving at West Point, Large spent two seasons at American International College.

Large skated for four seasons with the Ferris State Bulldogs in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association and registered 33 points in 129 career games.

The teams' "Most Improved" player in 2001, he was a member of the 2003 regular-season championship squad that made the first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance for the Bulldogs.

Large and his wife, Molly, reside in Cold Spring, N.Y.

MIKE WARDE

Assistant Coach

First Season; Iona, 1993

Mike Warde is in his second stint as a member of the Army hockey program. Warde, who spent four seasons at Army before working in healthcare and at the University of Alabama-Huntsville, rejoined the hockey staff in 2011.

Warde returns to the U.S. Military Academy and joins fellow assistant coach Trevor Large to complete the Black Knights' coaching staff.

Warde was the top assistant for Alabama-Huntsville in 2010-11 and served as recruiting coordinator and worked with the special team's units.

At Army, Warde will play a large role in the Black Knights' recruiting efforts and video analysis while working with the team on and off the ice.

A 1993 graduate of Iona, Warde began his coaching career at Iona Prep in New Rochelle, N.Y., before coaching the Alaska All-Stars Midget Program and at Robert Service High School.

His collegiate coaching career got underway at his alma mater before accepting the position at the U.S. Military Academy. After four years at West Point, Warde joined the healthcare industry and then returned to coaching in Alabama.

Warde and his wife, Angela, have a son, Brayden, and reside in Washingtonville, N.Y.

Entering its ninth season, the Atlantic Hockey Association continues to grow and prosper under solid leadership and a strong nucleus of institutions, which embodies the diverse structure of the league. Atlantic Hockey is one of five NCAA Division I men's ice hockey conferences which owns an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament for its league champion.

The addition of Robert Morris and Niagara during the 2010-11 season brought the total number of member institutions to 12.

Air Force claimed last year's tournament championships and automatic NCAA bid, a year after RIT advanced all the way to the Frozen Four. Upset wins against Denver and New Hampshire helped the Tigers become the first AHA team to play in the Frozen Four.

Prior to that, Air Force won three straight Atlantic Hockey Association Tournaments and pulled an upset in the NCAA Tournament three years ago.

During the 2008-09 NCAA Tournament, Air Force dispatched top-seeded Michigan, 2-0, and nearly pulled a second upset, dropping an overtime contest against Vermont, 3-2 in the second extra session.

The Falcons advanced to the NCAA Tournament with a 2-0 win against Mercyhurst in the Atlantic Hockey Association Tournament finals.

In 2007-08, Air Force beat Mercyhurst 5-4 in double overtime in the finals but fell to Miami (Ohio) 3-2 in overtime in the NCAAAs.

In 2006-07, Air Force beat Army 6-1 in the conference tournament championship game and then dropped a 4-3 contest to No. 1 ranked Minnesota.

In 2005-06, Holy Cross made history as the first Atlantic Hockey school to win a game at the NCAA Tournament, defeating top-seeded Minnesota, 4-3.

The overtime decision sent shock waves through the college hockey community and officially announced Atlantic Hockey's presence on the national stage. Although the Crusaders bowed to regional host North Dakota, 5-2, in the regional final, the statement had already been made: Atlantic Hockey is here to stay.

The conference, which added Air Force and Rochester Institute of Technology to its membership four seasons ago, is comprised of 12.

The Air Force Academy made the switch from College Hockey America and was reunited with service-academy rival Army. The two academies were members of CHA for the 1999-2000 season.

RIT made the jump from Division III, where the Tigers made 13 NCAA Tournament appearances and won nine ECAC West titles.

The addition of Robert Morris and Niagara has changed the scheduling in the AHA. The teams are split into geographic scheduling pods and teams in each of the "regions" will play three games against teams in their own "region," while playing two cross-over games against the other "regions" squads. Each team will play a total of 27 conference games with the standings including all 12 members.

Robert Morris is a private school near Pittsburgh, Pa., with an enrollment of 5,000 and competed in College Hockey America. Niagara is a private liberal arts university the Niagara River overlooking the Canadian province of Ontario. The team was a member of CHA.

Atlantic Hockey was formed when Fairfield University and Iona College dropped their programs and the

The mission of the Atlantic Hockey Association is to provide its members with a positive NCAA Division I college hockey experience fostering competitive excellence, championship play and recognition of teams and individual student-athletes and coaches.

Atlantic Hockey is committed to academic excellence, a high level of competitiveness, sportsmanship and fair play within the context of athletic integrity.

nine remaining schools in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference decided to break away from the multi-sport conference and form their own "hockey only" league.

That left just one full-time MAAC institution (Canisius). Although the MAAC Council of Presidents agreed to continue operating the league, its governance structure presented numerous challenges to the membership, and the schools chose to withdraw and seek their own path.

The nine remaining members voted on June 30, 2003 to sever ties with the conference and former Merrimack College athletic director, Robert M. DeGregorio, Jr., was introduced as Atlantic Hockey's first commissioner.

DeGregorio oversees all aspects of running the hockey conference from the league's offices in Haverhill, Mass.

COMMISSIONER

ROBERT M. DEGREGORIO, JR.

Robert M. DeGregorio, Jr., was introduced as Atlantic Hockey's first commissioner on June 30, 2003. He oversees the 12 members of the league and all aspects of running the conference.

DeGregorio is no stranger to guiding a major Division I ice hockey league. He served as commissioner of Hockey East from 1993-96, when he replaced Stuart P. Haskell, who resigned to devote full-time energies to his position as Commissioner of the North Atlantic Conference.

DeGregorio, the former Director of Athletics at Merrimack College for 19 years, joined the staff at Merrimack as business manager for the Athletic Department and for the College's S. Peter Volpe Physical Education Center in 1978.

He was promoted to Director of Athletics in May of 1983. Throughout his tenure, many of the Warrior teams become national powers. The 15-sport Division II program reached its pinnacle in 1999-2000 when it captured the Northeast-10 President's Cup, awarded for the top overall performance of all teams. DeGregorio was also Merrimack's softball coach from 1982-1992, posting 211 victories in ten seasons and guided the Warriors to four Northeast-10 Conference titles. He was named Northeast-10 Conference Coach of the Year three times (1986, 1989, and 1992). The Warriors won the 1994 Division II National Softball Championship and the softball program has a total of five appearances in the national championship tournament.

DeGregorio has sat on numerous committees and held many posts while at Merrimack, serving his institution nationally on various NCAA committees.

He was a member of the NCAA Division I Ice Hockey Committee from 1994-98. DeGregorio served as director on the Northeast-10 Conference (NE-10) Board of Directors, Chairman of the NE-10 Men's Basketball Championship and the NE-10 Finance Committees. He was a member of the NCAA Northeast Region Advisory Committees for both men's basketball and baseball.

DeGregorio also previously served as a director of the Eastern Football Conference and as the conference's treasurer, member of the ECAC Finance Committee and chairman of the ECAC Investment Committee.

A resident of Winthrop, Mass., where he resides with his wife Michele, DeGregorio graduated from Boston State College in 1973 with a bachelor's degree in education. Bob has two children, Leah and Robert Michael III.

Eight of the original nine charter members now form Atlantic Hockey including: American International College, Army, Bentley College, Canisius College, University of Connecticut, College of the Holy Cross, Mercyhurst College and Sacred Heart University.

The first official league contest took place on October 11, 2003, with Holy Cross defeating Canisius 3-1 in Buffalo, N.Y.

Atlantic Hockey retained the MAAC's automatic bid to the NCAA Men's Ice Hockey Tournament and Holy Cross captured the first AHA postseason title in 2004.

The inaugural AHA tournament was a success with the U.S. Military Academy serving as host for all eight games.

The Army hockey team has established itself as one of the nation's oldest and most respected programs and will continue to build on that tradition in this, its 107th year of intercollegiate hockey.

Five seasons ago, the Black Knights became just the 13th school in NCAA history to reach 1,000 victories. That historic win came against service academy rival Air Force on Nov. 11, 2005.

Last year, Army qualified for the playoffs for ninth straight year, coming on the heels of its first outright regular season championship in 2007-08 in which the team won the Atlantic Hockey Association with a 17-8-3 conference mark.

During the 2007-08 season, the Black Knights earned the top-seed in the conference tournament and dispatched American International in a first-round series before losing to Mercyhurst in the semifinals.

The 2006-07 squad advanced to the title game of the Atlantic Hockey Association Tournament, its best finish since the conference went to a tournament format seven years prior.

The Black Knights earned the No. 2 seed for the conference tournament with a 19-12-5 overall mark and a 15-8-5 slate in league games.

Army has the third oldest program in the country, along with Princeton, behind Yale (111) and Harvard (108). The Black Knights have won 1,071 games and boast a winning percentage of .532.

Army hockey has produced three players and one coach that have represented the United States in Olympic and other international competitions and also had a few individuals make name for themselves in the National Hockey League.

THE BEGINNING ON "THE PLAIN"

From a frozen patch of raw ice on "The Plain" to venerable and perpetually frigid Smith Rink to the cozy confines of present day Tate Rink, Army has certainly carved its own niche in college hockey since the program's inception in 1904.

The first chapter of Army hockey was written in the first decade of the 20th century. Under the direction of coaches Capt. Edward King and Capt. Robert Foy, the program enjoyed immediate success in its early days, winning 17 of its first 19 games and outscoring its foes 85-20. Eight of the first 17 wins came via shutout.

King guided the Black Knights to a sturdy 5-1 record in that inaugural season of 1904, including a four-game winning streak to close out the year. Army posted seven or more goals in four of its six outings that season.

Under Foy's direction, with a 3-0 mark in 1905, Army's win streak reached seven straight as the squad opened 3-0. A loss to St. Paul's School brought that run to an end. However, Foy's icemen followed that setback with four more victories.

Those early games were held during the winter on "The Plain" in an area flooded with water in late fall so a rink could form by mid-winter.

Open-air rinks would serve as the team's home until construction of Smith Rink was completed in 1931. The first-ever match up between Army and the Royal Military College of Canada, West Point's counterpart north of the border, was held on the Academy's open-air patch of ice in 1923.

One year later, the Black Knights continued their blossoming series with RMC by taking a historic trip to Kingston, Ontario. That road trip was Army's first in its hockey history, spanning 138 games and 20-plus seasons.

In addition to King and Foy, the hockey program's early history is replete with the efforts of others, like Talbot Hunter, who helped General Douglas MacArthur coordinate plans in 1922 and 1923 for the Army-RMC series; Ray Marchand, a Canadian native who helped the Black Knights finally beat RMC some 16 games into the series and was behind the Army bench for 20 seasons; and Dave Merhar who authored one of only two 100-point seasons in Academy history.

Jack Riley after leading the 1960 U.S. men's hockey team to Olympic gold

Throughout its history, the West Point hockey program has built a strong reputation as a highly competitive opponent relying on hard-nosed, fundamental hockey. However, the successes of Army hockey has not been limited to the ice at West Point as many within the Army "family" have carried the Academy's Black, Gold and Gray on to greater glory.

Long-time head coach Jack Riley is perhaps the greatest example of such accomplishments. He guided the Black Knights to 542 victories during a 36-year coaching career that spanned four decades. When he retired, his 542 career wins trailed only the legendary John MacInnes, who amassed 555 wins at Michigan Tech. Today, his wins total still sits in the all-time Top 10.

In 1949, the Academy elevated hockey to major sport status, helping turn the program into one of the Academy's most successful. But it was not until the arrival of the feisty Irishmen with the surname of Riley that Army's ice fortunes soared.

THE RILEY ERA IMPACT

It is doubtful that any family can claim to have the impact on a single college athletics program that the Riley family has had at West Point for the last 59 years. From Jack Riley to his sons Rob and Brian, Army hockey has literally been defined by the family's collaborative efforts for more than five decades.

Hired in 1951 by legendary football coach Earl "Red" Blaik, who was also Army's athletic director, Jack Riley assumed command of the Army program and turned it into a powerhouse squad featuring rugged, physical defensemen and explosive forwards.

Riley boasted a wealth of hockey experience, having captained Dartmouth's hockey team in 1947. Riley was a member of the United States Olympic Team that participated in the 1948 Games in St. Moritz, Switzerland.

He served as player-coach of the 1949 U.S. national team that played in the World Championships in Stockholm, Sweden. Riley scored both goals as the U.S. dealt eventual champ Czechoslovakia a 2-0 loss, its lone defeat of the tournament.

While at Army, Riley garnered NCAA "Coach of the Year" honors in 1957 and 1960. Following his selection in 1960, he was tabbed as head coach of the United States Olympic Team for the 1960 Games at Squaw Valley, Calif

That team became the first American squad ever to beat the mighty Russian dynasty en route to the United States' first-ever gold medal in hockey.

Army goalie Larry Palmer was a reserve on that team and remains the only Army hockey player to participate in the Olympics. Palmer's trip to Squaw Valley came after a splendid career in which he won 37 games and amassed 1,576 saves, both Academy records when he departed.

Ed Crowley (USMA '46) served as an alternate for the 1948 Olympic team, but did not dress for the games.

The Black Knights have had other players compete internationally, most notably Paul DeGironimo, who performed for the 1988 U.S. Olympic Team on its pre-Olympic tour.

Throughout his tenure at West Point, Riley continuously carved successful teams from the players he could glean from the Corps of Cadets. Among the finest hockey defensemen ever to pass through Riley's program was Pete Dawkins, who won college football's Heisman Trophy in 1958, and was First Captain of the Corps of Cadets. Dawkins graduated with 95 career points, a record for defensemen that has since been broken.

After struggling through two dismal seasons at the opening of his tenure, Riley reversed the Army hockey slide by forging an 8-8 record in 1952-53 and a 10-7 showing in 1953-54. Including those initial two campaigns, Riley teams would post winning seasons in 29 of his 36 years behind the bench.

The Academy bestowed upon Riley yet another prestigious honor, electing the legendary hockey mentor into the Hall of Army Sports as a member of its inaugural Class of 2004.

"I never expected anything like this," Riley said upon his induction into the Hall of Army Sports Hall of Fame. "It is the biggest thrill in all my years in sports."

A FATHER AND TWO SONS

As expected, there were many changes in the program's structure during Riley's tenure. Army bounced from Division I to Division II and back again during the 1970s. The Black Knights entered into conference play in the 1980s, and moved into a brand new home in the fall of 1985.

A move to the highly competitive Eastern College Athletic Conference in 1985-86 coincided with the arrival of Jack's son, Rob, to West Point. However, after five hard-fought campaigns in the ECAC, Army returned to its independent status in 1991-92 and flourished once again.

Under Rob's tutelage, the Black Knights posted back-to-back 20-win seasons as an independent, including a 24-9-1 ledger in 1995-96. However, Army again joined the conference ranks, affiliating itself with College Hockey America. The Black Knights would only spend one season in the CHA. In 2000-01, a move to the MAAC was made.

That residence was short-lived as well when Army and eight other MAAC schools broke away from the predominantly basketball conference and formed a "hockey-only" conference. The Atlantic Hockey Association was born in July of 2003.

Rob carried on the family tradition, picking up the torch when his father passed it off and emerged from his long shadow while leaving his own indelible mark on the West Point hockey program.

The boy who grew up watching his father guide the Army hockey fortunes won his 300th career game on Jan. 3, 2004. Together, the Riley's are the all-time winningest father-son tandem, racking up 848 career wins.

In the summer of 2004, Rob Riley stepped down as head coach and turned over the program and the family legacy to his younger brother, Brian. The fourth in a family of five children, Brian won more games (11) in his first season behind the Black Knights' bench than any other previous mentor. He also accomplished something his father and brother, were unable to – beating RMC on his first try.

Brian began to establish his own legacy by earning three consecutive Atlantic Hockey Association "Coach of the Year" certificates and leading the Black Knights to the playoffs in each of his seasons as head coach.

ARMY'S HOCKEY TRADITIONS

Though the Riley name may be synonymous with Army hockey, a myriad of players have left their mark along the banks of the Hudson. Each has helped weave the fabric of a program long recognized for its place among the best in college hockey.

Such standouts include: LeRoy Bartlett, the captain of Army's first two teams who returned to coach in 1911 and 1912; Frederic and Joseph Tate, two brothers who died during World War II and for whom Tate Rink is named; and Henry "Hal" Beukema, team captain of the 1944 team who died during a training mission near Langley Air Force Base in 1954. The team's "Most Valuable Player" award bears his name.

There have been others as well, including defenseman Ed Hickey; forwards Dave Merhar, Dave Rost, Tom Rost, George Clark, Andy Lundbohm and Dan Hinote; and goalies Brad Roberts, Ron Chisholm, Dan Scioletti, Neil Mieras and Daryl Chamberlain.

Merhar and Clark led the nation in scoring as seniors. Merhar posted Academy records with 107 points and 57 goals in his senior year of 1969. Clark, meanwhile, amassed 83 points in 1974-75, while posting 47 goals in his junior and senior campaigns.

In 1976-77, Dave Rost surpassed Merhar's single-season scoring record with 108 points on the strength of 65 assists – one shy of his own school-record of 66 established during the 1974-75 season.

Rost became the second hockey alumni inducted into the Hall of Army Sports in November 2005.

Lundbohm, a 1999 graduate and two-time Beukema Award winner, joined the professional hockey ranks.

A free-agent signee out of college by the San Jose Sharks, Lundbohm spent two seasons in the American Hockey League with the Sharks' top farm club before succumbing to a series of knee injuries, which forced his retirement from professional hockey a couple of years ago.

Hinote, a former linemate of Lundbohm's in 1995-96, was selected in the seventh round of the 1996 NHL entry draft by the Colorado Avalanche. The Minnesota native played a large role in the Avalanche's victory over the New Jersey Devils in the Stanley Cup Finals in 2001.

He completed his fifth season in the NHL in 2003-04, helping Colorado to a second-place finish in the Northwest Division and the fourth best record in the Western Conference.

Goalie Brad Roberts, who earned the Army Athletic Association Award, the Academy's top athletic honor, also pursued a professional career. He competed for the Youngstown Steelhounds of the Central Hockey League for two seasons. He compiled a 23-12-4 record in 41 games two years ago and was named the team's "Rookie of the Year" after finishing third in the CHL with wins. In 2007-08, he played in 13 games with a 6-5-1 mark before continuing his military career.

Recently, goalie Josh Kassel became Army's first Division I All-American with a stellar junior season in goal while earning Atlantic Hockey Association Player of the Year honors following the 2007-08 season.

Zach McKelvie, named the Defenseman of the Year that same season, became Army's first two-time first-team Atlantic Hockey all-star with honors his junior and senior seasons and was signed to a free agent contract by the Boston Bruins organization before pursuing his military commitment.

After completing his military requirements, McKelvie re-signed with the Bruins and spent part of training camp in the NHL before before assigned to the American Hockey League.

Rivalries make sporting events special. International rivalries make them personal.

The Army-Royal Military College rivalry celebrated 75 years during the 2005-06 season and it was billed as a continuation of the "oldest continuous international rivalry in sports."

The two teams have not played since a 3-3 tie in Kingston, Ontario on February 11, 2006 but there is denying the history of the competition.

A grudge match that spans international borders and began with Brig. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Maj. Gen. Sir Archibald MacDonnell 77 years ago was as vibrant and fierce in the 21st Century as it was in the Roaring '20s.

Rob Riley, former coach and older brother to current head coach Brian Riley, tilted the international rivalry with their Canadian counterparts north of the border upon assuming the reins from his father, Jack, in 1986-87.

Army authored a 12-game unbeaten streak (10-0-2) against RMC after a 4-3 setback in Riley's first season. Since then, the Black Knights won five of the final seven meetings to hold a 10-game advantage in the overall series.

Included in Riley's run of success was a streak of seven straight victories in which

Army outscored RMC, 41-9.

Over the years, the rivalry took on epic proportions similar to the Army-Navy football contest.

"The RMC game is a great experience because not only are you playing another military academy, but you are representing your country as well," said Col. (Ret.) Jim Knowlton, former forward for the Black Knights.

"(Army) always played with additional intensity, and the game was one of the most physical of the season. It is a great battle that takes everyone's game to the next level."

The Military Academy also recognized the importance of the rivalry. Any athlete who participates in a win over RMC receives a gold maple leaf to be worn over his or her varsity "A" letter. Athletes who secure wins over Navy receive a gold star, while wins over Air Force earn a silver star.

The idea of a hockey matchup between the Canadian and American service academies sprouted in 1921 from then Brig. General Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur, then the superintendent of the Military Academy, wrote a letter to Maj. Gen. Sir Archibald MacDonnell, commandant of RMC, to suggest that the two military schools play.

Letters and ideas continued to be exchanged between the two academy leaders and details were finalized. On Feb. 23, 1923, a party of Royal Military College officers and cadets traveled to West Point for the first game.

That inaugural contest was played on a natural rink adjacent to the West Point Gymnasium, now known as Arvin Gym. The Black Knights, who began playing hockey in 1904, used that open-air surface until they moved into Smith Rink on Jan. 31, 1931. The Paladins won that first game, 3-0.

The New York Tribune gave the following account of that first encounter, "Army was beaten at hockey today by the Royal Military College of Kingston, Ontario. The Canadian cadets excelled the Army men all the way, displaying the best all around form seen here in years. Hamilton and the two Carr-Harrises were the outstanding stars on the Canadian team. Beano (the Army goalie), was a busy man and made some truly remarkable saves ... The game was one of the cleanest fought contests staged here this winter, and was marked by a fine display of sportsmanship on both sides."

In commemoration of that first game, RMC presented a cup known as the "Challenge Trophy" to the United States Military Academy.

Although the trophy was expected to remain at West Point, a myth arose in the early years of the series that the trophy was presented to the losing team.

The following winter, 1924, the Black Knights traveled to Kingston. Army had played hockey since 1904 (138 games) and this was the first contest away from West Point.

In fact, with the exception of their trips to Canada every other year, Army continued to play only home games until 1941.

Royal Military College won that 1924 tilt 10-5, ruining the homecoming of first-year Army coach Ray Marchand.

The Pointer, the Corps newspaper, said of this game, "... Moreover, stronger opponents than the Canadian cadets could hardly have been found anywhere. That the men emerged on the short end of the score as close as ten to five is little short of miraculous.

"The international contest was noteworthy also for the clean sportsmanship that prevailed. Not a foul marred the progress of the game, and both schools are eager to continue the annual meeting of the two service academies."

No penalties were called in the series until 1954. In that game, at the urging of Army coach Jack Riley, infractions were called. The first penalty came against Dirk Lueders, the Army goalie.

The Paladins dominated the early series, winning 14 of the first 15 games, with the other ending in a 4-4 tie in 1935.

Army earned its first victory in 1939, a 3-2 decision in Kingston. After a two-year break, the matchup resumed in 1942 with Army winning, 3-1.

Royal Military College closed during World War II, and when the teams met again in 1949, the Black Knights secured a 5-4 win as parity finally seeped into the series.

Riley took over the Army program in 1951 and the Black Knights quickly gained ground on their adversaries from the north.

Army won 15 of the 20 games in the 1950s and 1960s to forge an 18-21-1 record

Former Superintendent Gen. Bill Lennox and Joe Dudek following Army's 4-0 win at West Point in 2003 in the overall series.

"It is similar to the Army-Navy football game," Riley said. "U.S. and Canadian ambassadors have been known to attend. It is always very intense."

The early 1970s was the "tie" era, with three of the four contests between 1973 and 1976 ending deadlocked. Interestingly, four of the six ties in the series happened to be 4-4. Overtime was not played during these years. The only previous overtime game went to RMC, 3-2, in 1955. In the early 1980s, it was decided that overtime would be reinstated.

Until the 1998 game, the two most recent overtime contests had been in 1989 and 1990.

Rich Sheridan's last minute goal gave Army a 3-2 win in 1989, while his apparent last-second goal in regulation was disallowed in 1990 and the game finished deadlocked 3-3 following a scoreless extra session.

The teams played evenly from the mid-1970s through the mid-1980s, with each winning five games. When Riley retired in 1986, he had brought the Black Knights to within one game of overtaking RMC in the series. At that time, the Paladins held a slight 26-25-4 edge.

But with the arrival of Riley's son, Rob, to the bench, Army dominated its military brothers.

The Black Knights did not lose to the Royal Military College of Canada in the 1990s. Two ties, in 1990 and 1998, were the only blemishes on an otherwise spectacular 10-year run.

RMC's 3-0 win in 2000 ended a 12-game unbeaten streak and got the Paladins off to a good start in the new millennium. However, Army rebounded with a big win at Tate Rink in 2001 that tipped the scales in the Americans' favor once again.

In 2003 as a salute to both country's men and women defending the world's freedom overseas, the National Hockey League supplied officials for the contest held in the Kingston Memorial Centre.

Former RMC head coach Danny MacLeod contacted the NHL, which was able to comply with the former coaching legend's request as most officials enjoyed a weekend off for the professional league's annual all-star game.

Jack Riley, who coached Army Hockey from 1951 through 1986, was behind the bench for 22 victories, finishing his career with a 22-11-3 (.653) record against the Paladins.

Rob etched a remarkable 13-3-2 (.778) account in his 18 seasons at the helm, while Marchand posted two victories and Len Paten added the other.

In 2005, Brian Riley notched a victory in his first game versus RMC, accomplishing something his father and brother failed to do. Four years ago, Army and RMC skated to a 3-3 draw in Kingston. Together, the Riley family has accounted for 36 of Army's 39 wins in the history of the series.

Although the rivalry began as a hockey-only battle, the rivalry has expanded over the years to include competition in rifle, pistol, men's volleyball, karate, judo and debating.

The annual encounter with RMC is billed as "RMC Weekend" at the military academy. The atmosphere in the arena always resembles that of an Olympic event, complete with spectators waving their country's flag in support of their team.

George Clark
(Winnetka, Ill.)

The only two-time first team All-East selection in Army hockey history, George Clark ranks third on the Black Knights' all-time scoring charts (266 points) and first in career goals (153). He holds two other school records as well, having posted 18 career hat tricks and stringing together four consecutive three-goal games during the 1972-73 campaign.

Tom Garver
(West Point, N.Y.)

A local product from West Point, N.Y., Tom Garver is the measuring stick by which all modern day Army goalies are judged. Garver entered the Academy in 1973 and started every game that season for the Black Knights. His 75 career victories and 2,858 career saves are both school records. Garver was selected to the second team All-East squad in 1977, the same season that Dave Rost was named first team All-East.

Dave Rost
(Buffalo, N.Y.)

Army's all-time leading scorer (330 points) and the only Black Knight to reach 300 points and 200 assists in a career. Rost posted nine hat tricks during the 1976-77 season, a campaign that saw him break the school record for points in a single season (108). He was a first team pick in 1977.

Goalie Josh Kassel became Army's first Division I All-American selection with a phenomenal junior season in 2007-08.

The 6-2, 180-pound Kassel earned second-team honors after posting an 18-10-2 record that included five shutouts, a 1.92 goals against average and a .925 save percentage.

Kassel beat #20 Air Force by identical 2-1 scores in a pair of games that were nationally televised. Twice, he registered back-to-back shutouts and was named the Atlantic Hockey Association Player of the Year, the first goalie to earn the honor.

While the first Division I All-American, Kassel is the fourth Army player to be recognized on a national stage. Forwards George Clark and Dave Rost and goalie Tom Garver were all honored prior to the Black Knights' Division I affiliation.

During an era when hockey greatness was judged by 50 goals in 50 games, Army hockey established its own measuring stick when Dave Merhar scored 57 goals in 28 games and finished the season with 107 points.

Eight years later, another Dave came along and surpassed Merhar's seemingly unbreakable record by one point.

Considered two of the finest hockey players ever to pass through the Academy's iron gates, Dave Rost and Dave Merhar are the only cadets to top the 100-point plateau in a single season. Merhar and Rost are one of only 12 college hockey players ever to author a 100-point campaign in NCAA history.

Merhar was the first to do it, with a magical 57-goal, 50-assist campaign in just 28 games in 1968-69. Rost one-upped Merhar's mark with a 108-point season (43G, 65A) that has stood as the Army record.

Prior to Merhar's 107-point season, the previous school record had belonged to Mike Thompson, who totaled 66 points in 1963-64. Surrounded by a solid supporting cast that included classmates Tony Curran and John Ahlbrecht, Merhar led the Black Knights to just their second 20-win season in 1968-69.

Merhar had a point in all 28 contests and was held without a goal on just three occasions. He finished with six points or more seven different times during the season. He scored a season-high five goals at the University of Pennsylvania in a 9-6 win. His 100-point effort established a new NCAA single-season scoring record and made him a charter member of the 100-point club. Before 1968-69, no other college hockey player had ever scored 100 points in a single season.

Merhar posted these amazing numbers against some of the top college hockey competition in the East. The Black Knights faced nine of the 10 schools that comprise the powerful Hockey East today. Boston College, Northeastern and New Hampshire all dotted Army's schedule. The Ely, Minn., native registered 17 points in those nine contests. The demands of playing a challenging Division I schedule did not slow the progress of the Black Knights' star forward.

Merhar also set a number of school records, two of which still stand today. He strung together a streak of 15 consecutive games in which he scored a goal, stretching from Jan. 11 (vs. St. Nick's) to Feb. 24 (vs. Connecticut). Army was 11-4 during that stretch. Merhar also turned in nine hat tricks during the season, a record that was tied by Rost during his record-setting campaign but never surpassed.

The 1976-77 season was also a terrific campaign for Army. Led by Rost's record-setting production, the Black Knights went 22-6-1 and outscored their opponents by a two-to-one margin, 202-101. Tom Rost, Dave's brother, and John Harrison gave the Black Knights more than just one weapon in Army's arsenal. With 78 and 74 points, respectively, Tom Rost and Harrison authored two of the top 20 single season scoring efforts in Academy annals. In addition, Tom Rost posted 97 points (40G, 57A) in 1979-80, good for third highest in Academy history. That is the closest anybody has come to the century mark at Army since.

Dave Rost scored nine times against Bryant in an early-season 11-2 victory. Like Merhar, Rost earned a point in every game that season. Rost was particularly destructive to the visitor's from the north. He posted 10 points in a weekend series against Canada's College Militaire Royal, and registered a hat trick along with an assist on the last day of the season against the Royal Military College. That performance pushed him past Merhar for the single-season record.

Rost finished the 1976-77 campaign tied with Clarkson's Dave Taylor as the nation's leading scorer. Their 108 points that winter also broke Merhar's NCAA single-season mark. Their standard would last another eight years until 1985.

It was Rost's late season push that eventually won him the school and NCAA record. Rost scored four points in each of his last three games, including two hat tricks. His 65 assists fell one shy of his own record of 66 set two years earlier.

Rost tied Merhar's record of nine hat tricks that season. His 43 goals is the fourth highest total in Academy history. The high-scoring forward became Army's second All-American.

He finished his career as Army's all-time leading scorer with 330 points, while also establishing an NCAA Division II record. In addition, Rost set the school's single-season mark for assists in both a single season (66) and a career (226).

Rost became part of the Army Athletic Association's second Hall of Fame class in November 2005 when he was inducted into the Army Sports Hall of Fame. Merhar was similarly honored in 2006, joining legendary coach Jack Riley as the first three predominantly associated with the hockey program to be honored.

Current players listed in bold

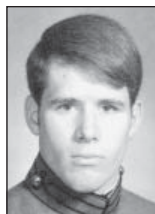

Henry "Hal" Beukema (USMA '44) was the captain of the 1944 Army hockey team and the son of a distinguished department head at the Academy.

George Clark

Following his graduation from West Point, Beukema became an Air Force pilot and served overseas in Berlin as well as in the states at Barksdale AFB in Louisiana. He died in a crash near Langley AFB in Virginia on Jan. 19, 1954, after achieving the rank of major.

The Beukema Award, which was initiated in 1955, is given each year in the memory of Maj. Beukema to the Army hockey team's most valuable player.

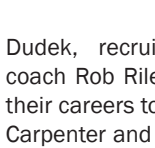

Dave Rost

Ed Hickey was the first recipient of the Beukema Award. Over the past 58 years, the award has gone to the Army team captain a total of 22 times. From 1982 to 1986, the award went to the Army captain each year.

Mike Fairman (USMA '01) became just the fifth player in Army history to receive the honor twice when he took home the award in 2000 and 2001.

He joined the illustrious company of former greats: Dave Merhar, 1968-69; George Clark, 1974-75; Dave Rost, 1976-77; and Andy Lundbohm, 1998-99. Joe Carpenter, Joe Dudek and Jon Boyle all epitomized the ideal of a team most valuable player, putting the best interests of the team ahead of their own personal aspirations.

Mike Fairman

Both Carpenter and Dudek, recruited forwards under former coach Rob Riley, switched to defense during their careers to help a unit that lacked depth. Carpenter and Dudek made the transition effortlessly, authoring all-star campaigns in the process. Boyle worked his way from role player to team captain in four seasons at West Point.

Dave Merhar

Goalies had a run of three straight awards that ended in 2009. Following the stellar play of Brad Roberts, Josh Kassel was presented the award in two consecutive seasons. He is the sixth player to be honored in two consecutive seasons.

Defenseman Zach McKelvie was chosen following the 2008-09 season, the first defenseman to win the award since Joe Dudek in 2003.

Both players were also team captains.

McKelvie, a two-time, first-team all league choice, played in all situations, scored five goals and handed out 12 assists in his final collegiate season.

Forward Eric Sefchik claimed the honor following the 2010 season. The center and captain led the team in scoring with 35 points after tallying a team-best 24 assists and 11 goals. He scored two short-handed goals.

Cody Omilusik, who shared the team scoring lead with 31 points and posted team-best totals of 18 goals and seven power play goals, collected the honor the following season, the second straight year a forward earned the honor.

* Denotes Team Captain

HAGGERTY AWARD

This honor is presented annually to the Army hockey player who displays courage, determination and perseverance throughout the season.

The Army hockey program was hit with a devastating setback on April 13, 1998, when Paul Haggerty — a 1991 West Point graduate, three-year letterman for the Army hockey team and an assistant coach under Rob Riley since 1996 — died suddenly during a workout.

A former Beukema Award winner, Haggerty led Army with 16 goals during his senior season and was second on the team with 25 points.

A tough, hard-skating forward, he spent his senior season on the Black Knights' top line. He appeared in 86 games during his four-year career, missing only four contests over his final three seasons and registering 27 goals and 43 points. Prior to his call-up to the varsity, Haggerty spent time with the jayvees during his freshman year.

HEINMILLER AWARD

This award is presented to the team's Outstanding Freshman of the Year in honor of former player John Heinmiller.

Heinmiller had just completed his freshman season with the Army hockey team when he was tragically killed in a train accident in April, 2001.

Heinmiller started his college hockey career with the junior varsity program at West Point, but worked his way onto the varsity squad. He appeared in one game his plebe season.

The inaugural John Heinmiller Award was presented to freshman forward Chris Garceau in 2002.

GUNNING AWARD

This accolade is presented in recognition of the Cadet who displays the qualities of "academic excellence, selfless dedication to his teammates, being a trusted friend, maintaining a sense of humor, playing through pain and adversity, and demonstrating a true love for hockey."

The Michael J. Gunning Award is named in honor of the late Cadet letterman that died Oct. 12, 1996, following a hit-and-run accident in Dallas, Texas. Gunning, a 1996 USMA graduate, was a 2nd Lt. stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., at the time of his death.

One of the team's behind-the-scenes leaders, Gunning typified the rugged, aggressive brand of hockey for which Army teams are renowned. He also personified perseverance, spending two seasons on the junior varsity team before finally earning a shot with the varsity. He closed his career with a stellar senior year as the center on Army's forechecking line.

DEREK HINES AWARD

The Derek S. Hines Award recognizes a person who has displayed an extraordinary amount of support toward the Army Hockey Program. Like Derek, this person has always cared more about giving than receiving, while displaying a great passion and love for Army Hockey.

The Army hockey family added a fifth team award to its list of postseason honors in 2006 in order to recognize Hines, who was killed in action on September 1, 2005.

A scrappy and hard-nosed player, who earned four varsity letters and graduated from the Academy in 2003, Hines was a fan favorite and one of the most respected players in the Black Knights' locker room.

The first Derek S. Hines Award was presented to Sid Rosner, a retired college hockey referee and long-time supporter of Army hockey. Rosner, a loyal fan and friend of Army hockey for more than 50 years, was also instrumental in starting the youth hockey program at West Point, along with Jack Riley and Charlie Weyant.

Dave Weyant was honored with the second award for exemplifying those qualities through his involvement with West Point's youth hockey program and his continued work as an off ice official at Tate Rink for Army's home games.

Athletic Trainer Tim Kelly was the third recipient of the Hines Award. A veteran of more than 20 years at West Point, Kelly was honored for his selfless and dedicated work with the hockey program.

Cadet manager David Horvath was honored in 2009 for his tireless work ethic behind the scenes during his four years with the program when he assisted the team in a multitude of ways.

Chief Warrant Officer 5 Dan Jollota, the president of the Army Hockey Parents' Association and an Officer Representative, was presented with the honor in 2010 before departing West Point to continue his military service.

ARMY HOCKEY AND THE AAA AWARD

One of the most prestigious awards Army presents to its senior cadet-athletes is the Army Athletic Association Award. The honor has been bestowed every year since 1904 and like most things involving athletics at West Point, Army hockey has a major presence.

Twelve hockey players have been presented with the AAA Award, an honor given to the most outstanding athlete of the senior class.

Defenseman Zach McKelvie is the most recent hockey player to earn the honor. McKelvie played in 136 games during his career, scored 14 goals and handed out 44 assists. One of the fastest skaters in recent memory, McKelvie was a four-year contributor on special teams as well and was a two-time captain. McKelvie is the third hockey-only player to win the award.

Brad Roberts, a four-year letterwinner and one of the greatest goaltenders in the history of the program, was the second hockey-only player to be recognized. Andy Lundbohm in 1999 was the first.

Maurice Daly, a two-time letterman was the first hockey player to receive the award, in 1927. John Boretti also has his name on the trophy, along with 1959 recipient Pete Dawkins, who also won college football's Heisman Trophy that same year.

Under legendary head coach Jack Riley, a member of the hockey family twice won the Athletic Association's top honor three times over a four-year period. A hockey star walked home with the athletic department's highest honor three times between 1956 and 1959, and again between 1965 and 1968.
